Acting Mayor Says Reds Had Part in Rioting

Suggests Probe of Financing of Some Street Outbreaks

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI is probing possible Communist influence in the city's racial violence which continued throughout the night on Brooklyn's Negro section and resulted in the critical wounding of two Negroes by police.

Acting Mayor Paul R. Screvane said the Harlem disorders had been incited in part by "fringe groups including the Communist party."

He suggested that the FBI agents might investigate the source of money for some street rallies and for some of the "very inflammatory, anti-American and seditious statements."

The FBI began investigating on orders from President Johnson.

Harlem, where rioting started Saturday night following protest rallies over the fatal shooting Thursday of a Negro boy by an off-duty police officer, was relatively quiet Tuesday night.

In Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section police fired at looters. Dozens of store windows were broken.

About two dozen persons were arrested.

Mayor Robert E. Wagner cut short a European vacation because of the violence.

Action Called Expedient After GOP Convention but Also Praised as Necessary

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's injection of the federal government into the race rioting problem in Harlem was questioned, applauded and criticized today by members of Congress.

"Politically expedient," commented Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., when informed that the president had ordered the FBI to investigate the New York disorders.

But another Republican, Senate minority leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, noted the President's duty to enforce the law and said "I am glad the President took action without further delay."

Rhodes, a strong pre-convention backer of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination, noted that Goldwater in his acceptance speech last week had emphasized the role of government in protecting life and property.

"The President obviously thought it was politically expedient to take action after so long a time, now that Sen. Goldwater has called it to his attention," Rhodes added.

Strong Provocation
Another Goldwater supporter, Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, said "it looks to me like the President is trying to steal Barry's thunder."

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said "the provocation for action by the President is very strong," and added that the FBI entry into the picture "may have a deterrent effect."

Goldwater was not available for comment.

In ordering an FBI investigation to determine whether any federal laws have been violated, Johnson noted that law enforcement is basically a state and local responsibility.

He pledged, however, that New York officials shall have all the help that we can give them. And this includes help in correcting the evil social conditions that breed despair and disorder."

Goldwater told the Republican convention in San Francisco last week:

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $62.5-million antipoverty bill pointed toward a head-on clash in the Senate today between the Johnson administration and Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

The many-sided measure, denounced by Goldwater as designed chiefly to get votes in this year's election, is being pushed by President Johnson as part of his declared war on poverty.

Nikita Assails Goldwater And Republican Platform

Likens Party's Convention To Gatherings of Nazis

BY GEORGE SYVERTSEN

WARSAW (AP)—"Clean our weapons, always keep our vigilance and stay on full alert," Soviet Premier Khrushchev told the Communist bloc Tuesday night after attacking Sen. Barry Goldwater and the Republican platform.

Khrushchev spoke at a celebration of Poland's 20th anniversary as a Communist nation after the U.S. and British ambassadors walked out in protest against attacks on U.S. policy by Polish Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Assailing the Republican platform as warlike, Khrushchev said it was adopted in San Francisco "in an atmosphere reminiscent of the fascist (Nazi) gatherings in Nuremberg."

"The candidate put forward for the presidency," Khrushchev continued without calling Goldwater by name, "made it clear that he wants to enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled anti-communism and war threats."

"The Soviet Union has already existed for 47 years. During this period we have seen various mad and half-mad men. We have never been afraid nor are we afraid of threats. We cannot be indifferent, however, toward threats."

Gomulka's Attack
Gomulka also attacked Goldwater. He said it was doubtful the Republican candidate would be elected, "but the very fact that a man of his caliber has been nominated illustrates by itself the danger threatening peace in the world on the part of aggressive imperialist circles in the United States and their West German allies, who demand nuclear weapons."

U.S. Ambassador John Moore Cabot walked out after Gomulka declared that the United States and West Germany have "a common platform of militant anti-communism and of pushing the world to the brink of war."

British Envoy Leaves
British Ambassador Sir George Lisle Clutton, the dean of the Warsaw diplomatic corps, left after Gomulka finished. British sources said he considered the speech rough and distasteful.

With Romania apparently and Poland possibly in mind, Khrushchev warned against Western efforts to woo Communist governments into independent policies.

Western countries he said, "by means such as promoting nationalism, using economic contacts for political aims attempt to pit one Socialist country against the other. All this is intended to undermine our unity, to divide our countries."

Burmese Reds to Form Alliance
RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma's leading Communist rebel factions have agreed to form an alliance in the face of heavy mauling by government troops, reports reaching Rangoon said today.

Elements of the Karen rebels, one of the five major insurrectionist groups in Burma, already have aligned themselves with the Communists.

Press reports said the Red Flag, or Trotskyite Communists, and the White Flag, or Peking-leaning Communists, made a deal that would unite their combined guerrilla following of 3,000.

Government troops continued to press major operations against rebel strong points. Twice in the past two months the government has reported 100 or more guerrillas killed in a single week.

Italy's Worst Heat of 30 Years in Ninth Day
ROME (AP)—A blazing sun scorched much of Italy today carrying the country's worst heat wave in 30 years into its ninth day.

Lightning killed five persons Tuesday in various parts of southern Italy. Four other persons died of sunstroke.

Cuban Exiles, Police Clash In Washington

OAS Ministers Debating Over
Action on Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Urged on by a march of Cuban exiles, some of whom rioted briefly Tuesday, foreign ministers of Western Hemisphere nations considered today what steps to take against Cuban aggression.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, pushing the United States request for action, was among the day's scheduled speakers.

Nearly 30 Injured
More than 400 metropolitan and park policemen, some on horseback and motorcycles, helped quell the disturbance which broke out when some of the marchers insisted on leaving the parade route to head to the Pan American Union building where the foreign ministers are meeting.

To Cubans and a park policeman received hospital treatment. About 45 other Cubans were treated for cuts, bruises, exhaustion and heat prostration.

Three men and one woman arrested on disorderly conduct charges, were released after posting collateral.

In Miami, organizers of the march charged that "Castro people left here Monday morning and were responsible for the trouble."

"We were tipped before the people left her Monday morning that Communists were out to start trouble," said John Martin, an organization leader in Miami.

9 Wounded by Shotgun Blast
CHICAGO (AP)—Nine young persons were wounded, none seriously, Tuesday night when they were struck with a shotgun blast during a chase on a West Side street.

All were Negroes. Police said the mine were chasing five youths. A shotgun blast fired by one of the fleeing youths struck the group of male and female pursuers.

Police said an unknown number of youths began heckling the mine boys and girls. They said someone in the first group fired two shots as the mine gave chase on foot.

Singapore Rioting Halted by Curfew

Watch After Race Violence

BY TONY ESCODA

SINGAPORE (AP)—A daytime curfew enforced by more than 6,000 troops and police restored quiet today to Singapore Island after racial riots between Malays and Chinese in which 8 persons were killed and 341 injured.

Acting Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak, who flew here from Kuala Lumpur, the Malayisian capital, announced the official toll from Tuesday night's violence at a news conference. He said 157 persons had been arrested on various charges.

Razak said the curfew would remain in effect until further notice. It will be lifted for three and a half hours Thursday morning to give residents a chance to buy food and other necessities.

Singapore's streets were deserted except for patrols of soldiers and riot police. Security forces with fixed bayonets had pushed everyone off the streets who tried to ignore the daytime curfew.

During Tuesday night's fighting rioters attacked a U.S. consulate car in which Charles J. Rogers of Santa Cruz, Calif., a diplomatic courier, was riding with a Malay driver.

Car Windows Smashed
Rogers said the mob, which he believed was composed mainly of Chinese, smashed the car's windows and headlights with clubs and bottles. The Malay driver was cut by flying glass.

Nearly 100 riot police armed with clubs and tear gas guns were flown from Kuala Lumpur today to join 5,000 police and two battalions of troops in the effort to keep the violence from spreading up the Malay Peninsula.

House Approves 'Offensive' Mail Delivery Curb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has given overwhelming approval to a bill that would let homeowners block "morally offensive" mail. Opponents said the legislation invades the right of free speech.

Passage came Tuesday on a $25-19 roll call vote. The bill now goes to the Senate.

A person who received mail he considered morally offensive could notify the postmaster general he wants future mailings from that source stopped. The sender would have 30 days to comply with the postmaster general's order.

If the mailings continued, the sender would be subject to contempt of court action.

The bill's chief sponsor, Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., said "millions of parents are disturbed at having their trash dumped in their mailboxes."

Leading the fight against it, Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., said the bill was a clear invasion of the right of free speech and that it was the most dangerous legislation to come before the House in years.

Party Proves Big Success

New Orleans Police Catch Crooks By Posing as Laundry Shop 'Fences'

BY BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The police gave a party Tuesday night and a crowd of crooks was taken to the cleaners.

The party-goers included a number of persons wanted on charges of shoplifting, narcotics sales and burglaries.

The party—it was actually a police operation—was held at a restaurant with food and refreshments costing $100—capped a three-month undercover investigation.

The hosts were detectives Robert M. Frey and George J. Hughes, who three months ago opened a laundry shop just four blocks off busy Canal Street in the heart of the city's commercial district.

Informers passed word to the underworld that Frey, posing as Harry Long, the laundry operator, was a fence—criminal jargon for a man who buys stolen goods.

Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarrusso said Frey and Hughes arrested and a large amount of stolen property was recovered. By early today, a total of 32 from 33 persons, including several real fences.

Giarrusso, Mayor Victor Schiavone, Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Frank Chief Alfred Theriot. "We lost Kleen and newsmen gathered at about 8:00 the first month."

Frey said his laundry business was good at the start but "it dropped off after people saw all the characters coming here."

It started at 8 p.m. Frey met his first guest at the door and ushered him to a back room, made a complaint to the police.

Other officers handcuffed the guest, who stood staring unhelpfully at the refreshments as a photograph blared.

Sixteen of Frey's customers showed up. Another 14 uninvited guests came along and police saw many were wanted in connection with other cases.

Then Giarrusso ordered the conversations on tape sweeping raids on the homes of 10 known fences, where a sum-—five miles—was used.

Confidence in Dollar May Not be Disturbed

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. dollar is so healthy right now that international bankers seem confident it will take in stride some bad news being readied in Washington.

The deficit in U.S. international payments has turned sour again after looking unusually good in the first months of this year. When large enough, the deficit is a potential threat to the nation's gold reserves, but already the U.S. Treasury is moving to ward off any new drain.

And the dollar's strong comeback last year has decimated the ranks of foreign doubters who caused runs on gold in former years.

Bad News

The bad news expected soon is almost a replica of last summer's. Then the deficit spurred sharply. A few feared the gold reserves and the dollar's value in world money might suffer drastically. Neither event took place.

For all 1963, bad second quarter and all, the deficit was $3.3 billion. Money sent abroad by government and private sources exceeded incoming money by that amount. The deficit, disturbing though it was, still was smaller than in several previous years.

The figures the government is preparing are for the second quarter of 1964. The jump in the deficit will compare sadly with the first quarter results when it dropped to an annual rate of $724 million.

The deficit usually is smaller in the first part of the year. This year there were some added and transient factors sale of wheat to the Russians, and a spurt of incoming capital for short-term investments here.

The big jump in the outflow of dollars from April through June is laid to many things. The general increase in U.S. prosperity meant more imports. For several years the United States has had a comfortable surplus of exports over imports. This has helped hold down the deficit caused by the outflow of dollars for other things such as foreign aid, travel, private investment abroad, military bases over seas.

Recently the rise in import volume has cut down this surplus plus a bit, and hence added to the deficit.

Another factor is tourist travel, which means a big outpouring of dollars abroad, and this year looks like a record.

Foreigners also have been getting commercial bank loans here, another form of outflowing dollars. And many other arrangements, faced with rising inflation, have been striving to hold down their own imports, and thus perhaps keeping our exports from foreign currencies. These can be used if and when any other nation might seek to present dollars for U.S. gold. They would be given their own currencies instead.

The deficit to be announced soon—and rumored to range anywhere from $1.5 billion to $3.5 billion on an annual rate—won't be pleasant news. It needs to be upsetting if all the international monetary stability pact and standby credits in work.

May Cigarette Sales Drop 13 Per Cent for Same Month in 1963

WASHINGTON (AP)—Factory sales of cigarettes in May showed a drop of 13 per cent from a year ago, government reports show. That continues a trend noted since a scientific advisory committee branded cigarette a health hazard in January.

April has been the only month this year in which factory sales of cigarettes equaled or surpassed the figure for the corresponding 1963 month.

Sales in May totaled 41.7 billion compared with 43.7 billion in April and 48.2 billion shipped from factories last May.

Cigar sales, continued their upward trend in May, showing a rise of $6.4 million, or 13 per cent, to 730.7 million.

Vocational School Plan Committee Faces 'Roadblock'

State Education Official Advises Against Continuing Local Boards

Members of a committee planning a proposed area vocational and technical school have run into a potential "roadblock" which may wreck their plans unless a solution is found.

The "roadblock" was a letter from C. L. Greiber, director of the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

He told the committee—composed of representatives from vocational school boards of Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and Kimberly—that it would be "unwise" to retain local boards after a central board to administer the area school was established.

Members' Assumption Committee members had proceeded to plan for the school on the assumption—expressed in a May 18 letter over Greiber's signature—local boards would be retained.

They had approached their respective boards to get opinions on the proposed plan which hopefully would eliminate unnecessary duplication and allow expansion of vocational and adult education courses in the Fox Cities.

According to reports given by committee members the boards were favorable. They reportedly had some reservations concerning local control and fiscal policy, but they agreed to the principle of and need for the school.

Now, with Greiber's new plan—which came after they had spoken to boards—committee members felt it would be necessary to return to the boards before proceeding further.

Boards Not Willing Also, the committee's consensus was the local boards would not be willing to accept the idea.

One exception apparently was Appleton, whose board president, George A. Howden, and school director, Carl Bertram, were at the meeting.

They felt, in Bertram's words, "there's nothing you are doing now with five boards you can't do with one." Bertram said that even under Greiber's new plan, announced in a letter dated July 13, each school could retain its local adult programs while transferring full-time vocational and technical programs to the new school.

After about two and a half hours of deliberation, the committee agreed to have Bertram ask Greiber for a firm recommendation for an organizational structure for the new school.

Acceptance or Rejection This, members agreed, they would present to the local boards for acceptance or rejection.

Greiber, at an April meeting which first discussed the possibility of an area school in the Fox Cities, had proposed an organization similar to the one in his July 13 letter.

Later in the evening, when challenged by a school director, he said it might be possible to retain local boards. He reiterated this position in the May 13 letter.

Bertram said he and H. L. Sherman of the Menasha board had spoken with Greiber at a recent meeting in Madison. There, Bertram said, Greiber had rejected any possibility of retaining local boards if an area school board were established.

Operating Funds Committee members assuming the acceptance of Greiber's suggestion, questioned whether local programs would suffer and in what manner operating funds would be raised. They hoped Greiber would explain this in the expected recommendation.

Under Greiber's plan the central school board would include six members and the superintendent of the largest school district included in the area.

Pair Pleads Innocent To Disorderly Conduct Charges at Pig Fair

OSHKOSH — Please of innocent of disorderly conduct were entered in branch 3 of the Winnebago County Court today by William F. Bree, 66, and Gladys A. Bree, 28, both of Butler.

The 12-man jury was requested and further proceedings were set for Tuesday.

They were arrested at the request of Valley Fair Shopping Center management June 27 after they refused to quit selling produce at the shopping center's parking lot.

Other persons were selling produce at the "pig fair" program of the shopping center but Valley fair officials claimed that only persons from the area should be allowed to sell in the pig fair.

'Summer Madness' in Appleton

Shoppers Stroll on College Avenue During Annual Sidewalk Sale

Appleton buyers and sellers their spels over public address systems more than once to "ad-vertise" for mothers whose children had strayed away from them.

Special attractions were the order of the day on the avenue. A rock and roll band—complete with grass skirted guitar players provided up-tempo rhythms perhaps in a hope to get customers to buy more faster.

Ventriloquist Bob Neller gave shows from a platform near Oneida Street. Jerry Welch trumpet playing member of the one man "We don't get out of step"—Pigsy's Police Band walked up and down the avenue playing his own compositions including that "gasser," "The Insecticide Blues."

Casual Wear It was a day for casual wear. Most of the customers and many of the sales personnel were attired in shorts and sport clothes.

One company even had its salespeople decked out in striped vests and straw hats. Another group wore grass skirts.

Streets crossing College Avenue were sort of a hazard to those who were unused to crossing normally busy avenue with such abandon. Drivers on the cross streets had to travel cautiously across the avenue to avoid hitting pedestrians.

A merchant said the sale had attracted about as many people as last year, but he was expecting more people later today.

Have Possible Witness

Fear Several Engaged In Illegal ID Traffic

Concern that traffic in faked or altered state identification cards may be coming from several sources was expressed today by Outagamie County sheriff authorities investigating rumors such cards are being sold for $5 and $10.

Leads to possible sources of the faked cards have been coming to the attention of authorities since it was publically revealed the investigation was being conducted.

Sheriff authorities have received several descriptions of persons making contacts and selling the cards. They believe more than one group of individuals may be involved.

May be Witness One county resident informed authorities today she may have witnessed a contact between a seller and a group of teenagers at the Outagamie County speedway. She said the words "identification card" and other phrases were used by an individual whom she described as being an adult talking to several youths near a beer stand.

The woman said the adult from display to display looking for bargains. The avenue was closed to traffic from Walnut to Durkee streets. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Car Fund Issue Cited In Appleton

Official Claims Reimbursement Does Not Cover Expenses

The mileage allowance—parking privilege issue for Appleton officials was revived Tuesday night when city welfare director Merton Ehrlicke submitted a personal study which indicated he was getting only 5.7 cents a mile for use of his car.

Ehrlicke, appearing before the Welfare and Ordinance Committee, said he has kept careful records of his mileage since the set car allotment was abolished and the parking privileges eliminated.

During May, his study showed he received $18.70 for use of his car for 187 miles. By deducting the $5 meter hood he was required to buy or spend his day plugging parking meters, he said he was left with $10.70. It was on this balance that he based his claim.

Before Jan. 1 certain officials received a flat allowance of $55 a month and free parking space was available near the city hall.

Ehrlicke told the committee he had also studied practices in other communities of comparable size and found that Appleton's system was generally under the average in regard to reimbursement.

His study was referred to the Personnel Committee. Parking Commission and mayor.

Board of Directors Accepts Boldt Offer for Construction Of New X-Ray, Lab Facilities

Appleton Memorial Hospital's board of directors has accepted the bid of the Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co. for construction of new X-ray and laboratory facilities. The company's bid was $292,500.

Work is expected to get underway about Aug. 1, and is scheduled to be completed in May 1965.

Construction of the new radiology and laboratory facilities represent the initial step in an expansion program which ultimately will provide increased bed capacity for the hospital.

Hospital authorities, the consulting architects, E. Todd Wheeler and the Perkins and Will Partnership, Chicago, and the hospital's long range planning committee determined that additional X-ray and lab facilities already inadequate for the demands made on them are basic to projected expansion of bed facilities.

Public Fund Drive Financing of the expanded X-ray and laboratory facilities will be accomplished without a public fund drive.

It is anticipated that when studies now underway are culminated in specific plans for bed capacity expansion the hospital will seek community support by fund drive in 1965, hospital authorities said.

Radiology and laboratory facilities currently occupy space on the second floor of Memorial Hospital in the east arm of the roughly cross-shaped structure, occupying about 4,700 square feet of space.

Present plans call for approximately triple that space in the enlarged facilities.

Enlarged Facilities The enlarged facilities will occupy new second floor additions constructed over present first floor projections located north and south of the present radiology and lab areas.

The long range planning committee includes Mrs. William E. Buchanan and Dr. Harry F. Lewis, co-chairmen, Leonard E. Pasek, board president, Stuart Koch, Walter L. Rugland.

Firemen Fight Early Morning Blaze at Vacant Town House

MEENASHA — Fire fighting teams from the Town of Menasha Fire Department rushed to Brighton Beach Road at 1:30 a.m. today when fire broke out in an apparently abandoned house.

The fire, which apparently began in a mattress in the three-room building, did not damage the building, although some smoke and water damage was reported.

Owner of the building is not known. The Winnebago County sheriff's department has begun an investigation to determine the owner of the property and started many will include employees of various companies in the vicinity including the Menasha Corp. itself.

A member of the fire department said one of two reasons for the blaze are likely youngsters playing in the building or someone sleeping there.

Investigators Begin Probe Into Cause of Blaze

MEENASHA — Investigators for the Milwaukee Road rail company Tuesday began an investigation into the possible causes of a multi-million dollar fire which destroyed the converting operation of Menasha Corp. Friday.

The investigators hope to learn the actual cause of the fire and its origin. Several witnesses to the blaze are being questioned in an attempt to learn how the blaze started. Many will include employees of various companies in the vicinity including the Menasha Corp. itself.

The incident also is being investigated by the Menasha fire department and other agencies.

College Avenue Merchants are holding their annual sidewalk sale today, and many customers are experiencing a little "summer madness" as they wander from display to display looking for bargains. The avenue was closed to traffic from Walnut to Durkee streets. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Corrugation at Menasha Corp. Resumed Tuesday

Layoff Will Affect Only 26 Employees

MENASHA — Corrugation operations were resumed at the Menasha Corp. at 3 p.m. Tuesday, according to an announcement this morning by Morey Smith Jr., vice president.

At the same time Smith said only 26 employees have been laid off as a result of a disastrous fire Friday. Up to 200 men earlier were feared to have lost their jobs.

Corrugator, roll stock and boiler areas were among portions of the plant not seriously damaged by the fire. Nearly all converting stock and some warehoused materials were destroyed.

Smith said printing and finishing operations have been farmed out to the Wisconsin Container Corp.

Resumption of corrugation put 26 men back to work who would otherwise be jobless. Another 15 men are working in the pad department, 10 at other plants and 40 men are on vacation.

He also announced that clean-up operations are progressing "excellently."

A decision on whether to rebuild the burned out plant or depot at 5:25 p.m. Tuesday.

move operations to another site was scheduled this week. However, Smith indicated a decision may not come before sometime next week.

The fire, the largest in Twin City history, started shortly before 2 p.m. Friday. It was brought under control late Friday but required services of firemen through Monday.

Fire in Kaukauna Ruins Mattress, Bedding in Home

KAUKAUNA — A fire at 7:50 a.m. today destroyed bedding and a mattress at the home of James McMorrow, 428 W. Wisconsin Ave.

Children had placed a plastic sheet over a night light. When it began burning, the youngsters rolled it up and attempted to hide it under the bed, police said.

The sheet flared and ignited the bedding.

At 12:55 a.m. today, firemen were called to the Thomas Eiting home, 303 Depot St., when the owner smelled gas.

Firemen could find nothing and told Eiting to call the gas company.

Firemen extinguished a grass fire at the northside railroad build the burned out plant or depot at 5:25 p.m. Tuesday.

The Robert Paltsier Farm, 4617 N. Meade St., Appleton, will be the setting of a grain variety meeting at 9 a.m. Friday. Twelve varieties of oats, four of barley and three of wheat make up the experimental plot. Russell Luckow, right, Outagamie County agricultural agent, and Bill Paltsier inspect the plot. ## Assemblyman Martin Speaks

Board Reform Chances Optimistic

NEENAH — A definite tone of optimism for the accomplishment of county board apportionment in Wisconsin was evident at the initial meeting of the joint interim study committee.

Assemblyman David Martin told the Optimist Club at its noon meeting Tuesday. However, less optimism was shown for a solution to the problem of county board size, the assemblyman who is vice chairman of the study committee, reported.

The purpose of the committee is to draft a plan for the apportioning of county supervisory districts on town, village and city lines, giving greater consideration to population representation than the present system. However, the enabling statute also states "but not disregarding other factors."

The committee is to recommend its plan to the 1965 legislature. By statute the committee includes two representatives of the Wisconsin Town Boards Association selected by the directors thereof; two representatives of the Wisconsin County Boards Association, named by their directors; one representative from a city and one from a village, selected by the directors of the League of Municipalities; three assemblymen, three senators, two citizen mem-

Share Prices Drift Lower

Steady in Early Trade but Ease Just Before Noon

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock-market prices duplicated the pattern of the last two sessions by heading downward early this afternoon. Activity continued at a sub-6-million-share pace.

Prices were steady most of the morning. Shortly before midday, more and more minus signs appeared. All in all, groups were lower or no better than mixed.

At noon, The Associated Press 88-stock average was off a minimum 1 at 319.8 with industrials down .6, rails up .5 and utilities unchanged.

Once again there was no specific news to cause the price slide.

The noon Dow Jones industrial average was 344.47, off 2.48.

U.S. Steel fell about a point as did Jones & Laughlin. Republic and Bethlehem were down 1/4 or more.

Chrysler was down more than 1/2 from Tuesday's historic high. GM was up a small fraction but Ford fell back a little and American Motors and Studebaker were unchanged.

RCA gave up more than a point. Control Data was off about 1 1/2.

Libby-Owens-Ford Glass responded with a jump of around 2 1/2 when directors increased the dividend and declared an extra.

IBM was off about 2 and Polaroid almost as much.

Oils were generally weaker. Texaco and Standard Oil (California) down about a point. Kennecott was down nearly 1 as the company said it was unable to meet some orders because of plant and mill strikes.

Implementation of these plans must be carried out by local or county governing bodies.

A third method of implementing those programs is now under study by a legislative committee, Martin said.

This method would be in the form of a new unit of government made up of municipal officials from individual municipalities.

Functions would be limited to those programs which are regional in nature, he said.

The NEA unit would have limited taxing and bonding authority. Serious consideration must be given to this type of government, Martin stated.

The Fox Valley Regional Planning commission has done a tremendous job in developing long range economics, land use and traffic plans for this area, stated the assemblyman. Im-

There'll be other activities tonight too with stores remaining open until 9 p.m. Various contests and guessing games are scheduled in downtown stores, the Menasha Lions will operate a concession stand and there will be 5 cent kiddie rides on Center Street with tickets available from merchants.

Access for New School Deeded to Appleton

For a token fee of $1 the Wichmann-Johnson Corp. deeded street right-of-way to Appleton for access to the new senior high school construction site.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell received the deed today. The remaining 33-foot width of the 66-foot right of way will be property deeded by the city from school property.

This will enable the eventual extension of Schaeffer Street along the west side of the school grounds, Mitchell said. The land deeded by the company stretching for 1,803 feet.

Appleton Couple Wins Furniture on TV Show

An Appleton couple won a complete set of living room furniture in New York Tuesday. Fox Valley residents will be able to witness the event on television Friday night.

The Elliott F. Elfters, 621 N. Meade St., are honeymooning in New York after their marriage, July 18.

Mrs. Elfters won the furniture by proxy on the Price Is Right television show, as "celebrity" Roddy MacDowell played the game for her.

Judge Keller Denies Appleton Man's Plea to Be Released From Jail

A request to be freed immediately from the Outagamie County jail on grounds that he had been illegally placed on probation for one year was denied Monday for a man who is serving 364 days in jail for non-support.

A writ of habeas corpus submitted by Thomas Peterson, 26, of Appleton, was denied by County Judge Gustave Keller. Peterson's attorney, Allan Cain, supported the writ by stating that Peterson's offense should carry a maximum of 90 days jail confinement and that probation was illegal.

Peterson was found guilty of non-support in January and placed on probation to the state department of public welfare for one year. One month later Peterson's probation was revoked and he began serving a term of 364 days.

Boyle Can't Wait to Remove His Harness

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Life keeps a fellow so busy doing about half the things he ought to do that he doesn't have time to do a third of the things he'd like to. So he has to postpone his pleasures most of his life. He is too busy doing his duty to really enjoy himself.

I have no sympathy with people who retire unwillingly at 65 and then proceed immediately to die of boredom. To me they are stubborn and unimaginative.

Opposite Theory
When the world removes them from the harness of the daily plodding, they take revenge by dying.

They live by the puritanical idea that work is given to man himself to keep him out of mischief.

Without work they feel they have no mission in life. I have just the opposite theory. I think the only purpose of work is to save enough money to spend the rest of your life in mischief and riotous self-indulgence. I believe that any kind of employment is a form of slavery and any man who submits to it is an unenlightened fool.

Every morning I make a speech in this effect to my wife. She takes my rebellion in good grace.

"Just hold on to your job until you're 65, Rover," she says. "And then you can do anything you want. You'll be absolutely free. But frankly, I don't think you'll know what to do with it."

That just goes to show how a

Planned Retirement
I know exactly what I'm going to do with myself when I'm 65. Planned retirement has been my constant daydream ever since I started sweeping out a grocery store at the age of 16 and gained an early and lifelong distaste for honest labor.

As soon as the office gives me the farewell $57.39 gratification I'm going to open the window by my desk and drop this typewriter six floors to the street below.

Then I'm going home to a little place in the country and sit motionless in the rocking chair on the front porch for a solid month.

Then I'm going to rock until I feel rested.

Then I'm going to buy a barrel of bourbon and drink it while I read a thousand books in my library whose pages I have yet to turn.

Then I'm going to get 10,000 rocks and a thousand tin cans. I'm going to put the tin cans on a fence and then peg the rocks at them until all the cans are knocked off.

Then I am going down to the Brewery and get an artist to take on my chest a giant eagle, an American flag and the motto, "Liberty or Death."

Then I am going to start smoking cigarettes and learn to inhale.

Then I will run away from home.

So long, kids. I will tell my

Law Legalizes Sale Of Ice Cream Cones In Washington, D.C.
WASHINGTON (AP)—This summer marks the 60th anniversary of the first ice cream cone, and sale of the summer-time treat is about to be made legal here.

The Senate Monday passed by voice vote and sent to the White House a bill to end a District of Columbia legal ban on the sale of solid milk products in packages smaller than one-half pint.

The provision, part of District law since 1921, would include ice cream cones, but the law has not been enforced.

Man Pays $40 on Two Boat Counts
CHILTON—A Sherwood man paid $40 and costs Monday in Chilton County Court on two conservation violations.

David W. Yokum, Sherwood, was arrested by conservation officials July 5 on Lake Winnebago for not having life preservers for each person in the boat and for improper registration.

Sherwood County Judge John Becken, sitting in for Chilton County Judge D. H. Bohara, assessed a fine of $15 and cost on the first offense and $25 on the second offense.

Broadway Comedy Hit Next Attic Production

'Take Her, She's Mine' Opens Saturday;
Charles Schuman in Art Carney Role

BY HELEN DIXSON
OF ATTIC THEATRE
"Take Her, She's Mine" has been provoking laughter and stirring up memories all across the continent since the comedy was first presented in New York in December of 1961. Attic Theatre opens with the play at Lawrence University Music - Drama Center Saturday.
Veteran Attic actor Charles "Chuck" Schuman plays the role Art Carney made famous on Broadway, the father of college-bound Mollie. Jan Redlin is Attic's Mollie. Sandy Tarala her sister and Joan Smith plays her mother.
Schuman, a veteran of 50 plays, is now in his 8th season with Attic Theatre. His long list of stage credits includes roles with the Port Players, Shorewood Players, and Winnebago Players. On Attic's stage "Home is the Hero." "Born Yesterday," and "Invitation to a March" are among the plays in which he has filled a major role.
Miss Redlin, who plays Mollie, was Ondine in 1963 senior class play at Appleton High School and one of the wives in "The King and I" last summer. She will be a sophomore at Wisconsin State University at Eau Claire in the fall.
Joan Smith, the real life mother of a 13 year old girl and boys 11 and nine, plays Mollie's mother — in Joan's words "a warm, stable, well-adjusted mother who is the rock of the family." Mrs. Smith began with Attic last season as Rose, the devoted servant, in "Kind Lady," and was also a wife in "The King and I".
Younger Sister
Sandy Tarala, who will be a junior at Appleton High School, has the part of Liz, Mollie's younger sister who — for a time — overshadowed by all the concern about Mollie.
Although the setting of the play is divided between California and New England, the story could take place anywhere in the United States. The fast-paced dialogue—candid, bantering, deadly serious or carefully sophisticated—could have been taped in any home and college in any state.
Phoebe and Henry Ephron, husband and wife team authored the play, wrote from first-hand experience. The amusingly familiar incidents, the humorous or poignant scenes between parents and daughter, girl and boy, husband and wife, all are evidence of the authors' personal encounters with the young adults of this decade.
Mollie's Fine School
When Mollie goes off to college in Massachusetts, her father bursts with pride. Hawthorne College for Women is a good school—in a "good location, bounded on the east by the Atlantic Ocean, on the west by Harvard, on the north by Dartmouth, and on the south by Yale."
Mollie discovers the "fabulous" quality to college life—from Shakespeare's sonnets to weekends at nearby men's schools.
Father has misgivings. Mollie's mother takes the details of the "fabulous" life in stride until Mollie comes home for Christmas. A Betty Boop gets off the plane instead of their potential first woman president of the United States.
Phase one of Mollie's growth. Players is directing the show. Tickets are on sale at all Neenah playgrounds and at the Neenah Ken Anderson of the Riverside pool.

Vivien Leigh Returns To Films After Illness

She'll Play Another Southern Belle in Kramer's 'Ship of Fools'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Vivien Leigh, looking lovely and fit after her recent illness, is back in Hollywood to play yet another Southern lady.
The English actress has come aboard Stanley Kramer's "Ship of Fools" to play one of the few American roles in the cast. This time she's a Virginian, and if she does as well as her last two Southerners, she'll be doing very well indeed. Both won her Oscars.
"The accent is quite difficult, but I'm working hard on it," she reported. "Virginian is a bit difficult to capture; it's somewhere midway between Southern and British. It was easier when I was speaking Georgian in 'Gone With the Wind' and Mississippi in 'A Streetcar Named Desire'.
Miss Leigh is quite confident as to why she has happened to specialize in Southern belles in American films, but obviously she has no complaints. She is feeling very chipper following months of rest that were necessary after her collapse in school board for 30 years and New York last year. She had a state senator for 28 years.
"But I couldn't. It was simply unbearable. I spent all day in the country, but I had to come to the theater at night, and the nights were terrible. I could get no rest at all."
Now she is pleased to be back at her profession and to return to Hollywood to visit her chums.
Political Seasoning
ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (AP) — When Rudolph Anselmi gets hold of a political job, he really holds on to it. Anselmi has been vice chairman of the Wyoming Democratic Party for 20 years, a member of the Rock Springs school board for 30 years and New York last year. She had a state senator for 28 years.

Analysis One Method Used by Psychiatrists

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between a psychiatrist and a psychoanalyst?
My sister is in a very distressed mental state, and I have been told that a psychoanalyst merely talks and doesn't give advice or treatment, while a psychiatrist gives advice. Please explain.
—L. T.

In time gives the patient a perspective of himself. He begins to see what really is troubling him. Once this insight develops it is possible for him to see how he can overcome his problems.
Long Time Need
It is a long, slow process and the need for it was recognized long before psychoanalysis was contrived. Robert Burns once wrote:
"Oh, had some power the giftie gie us
To see ourselves as others see us!"
That is a form of psychoanalysis.

Analysis is merely one of the methods used by psychiatrists. Not all psychiatrists employ it as it requires long training. The psychiatrist himself has been psychoanalyzed.
Essentially, analysis is a long series of sessions. The patient talks about himself, what he feels, what bothers him, what he thinks about other people—everything.
With intelligence, skilled guidance, and probably luck (who doesn't need an average amount of luck anyway?) this process

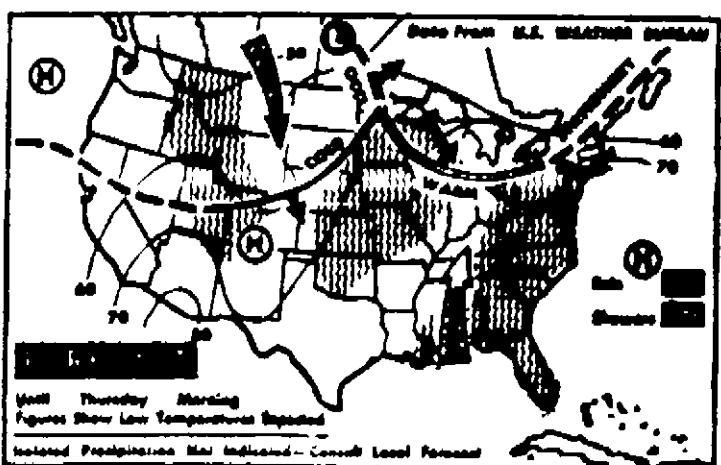

Analysis is just a method in depth of making use of psychiatry and an analyst is a person who uses this deep and laborious method. It isn't easy.
There are in some places people called lay analysts, who feel that they can do analysis without being psychiatrists. I know I'm laying myself open to argument, but I doubt whether anyone should try to tinker with the human mind and emotions in this fashion without having, at least, the long training of a professional psychiatrist.
Making Decision
Now to get back to the original problem if L. T.'s sister is in a "very distressed mental state" it is not smart for L. T. to try to make the decision as to whether analysis is advisable.

Rather, have the sister examined by a competent psychiatrist, whether or not an analyst. A good analyst is, first of all, a psychiatrist, a good psychiatrist, even if not an analyst, can distinguish between the patients who might benefit by analysis and those who can't.
And I might add this: Analysts (not to say non-analysts) are so overloaded with work as it is, that you needn't be disturbed about not getting a frank evaluation. If an analysis is not the answer, he'll say so.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a woman of 75 and have trouble digesting orange and tomato juice. In order to supplement my Vitamin C supply, I got some 500 mg tablets of ascorbic acid. Is it safe to take one a day?
—E. T. S.

It is safe enough because your body will simply discard any extra Vitamin C (ascorbic acid).
But is it wasteful? The recommended daily allotment is from 75 to 100 milligrams—and besides you get some Vitamin C from your food.

Hot Weather Over Most of Nation Today
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The mercury remained in the torrid zone today and the hot sun combined with a weak pressure pattern caused intermittent rainfall over much of the country.
Central Arizona smoldered in the 90s early today and other sections reported temperatures in the 70s and 80s.
Torrential downpours and thunderstorms Tuesday pounded the Midwest, causing at least five deaths and several injuries. Light amounts of rainfall fell today but it brought little relief to the tenacious mugginess.
Most of the country remained in the grip of uncomfortably hot temperatures. Some relief came in New England and northern New York the northern Rocky Mountains and the western Dakotas.
The rainstorms Tuesday caused flash floods and lightning damage in the Midwest.

Scattered Showers and Thunderstorms are forecast for tonight from the middle Atlantic states to Florida in the Appalachians, along the central Gulf coast and wide spread ones in the upper and central Mississippi valley and central plains. Thunderstorms may develop in the Rockies and a few showers will fall along the north Pacific coast. It will be cooler in the northern plains and the northeast. (AP Wirephoto)

Lightning, Wind Cause Damage In Black Creek

BLACK CREEK — Lightning and gusts of wind during an electrical storm Monday resulted in demolition of a truck and set fire to a radio.
A sudden wind accompanying the storm, which occurred at about 2:30 p.m. Monday, blew off a large tree branch at the home of Mrs. John Stephani.
The limb crushed a 1957 panel truck belonging to James Rettler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Rettler, which was parked nearby. The truck was completely demolished. Its insurance does not cover the accident.
An AMFM radio in the Burdick Furniture Store was struck by a bolt of lightning and destroyed. A cash register and adding machine plugged into the same outlet were unharmed.

MADISON — Tomorrow's "by-liners" moved into University of Wisconsin dormitories Sunday for the beginning of the fourth annual Wisconsin High School Journalism Workshop.
A total of 159 boys and girls, some of whom may some day cover a political convention or edit their own newspapers and magazines are registered for the intensive two-week training period.
The workshop is sponsored by the UW Summer Sessions in co-operation with the UW School of Journalism. Journalism Extension Services, The Wisconsin Press Association, the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League and the Wisconsin Journalism Teacher Adviser Council.
Tricks of Communication
Newspaper radio and TV scholarships have been awarded to many of the youngsters who will learn the tricks of communications from journalism teachers and professionals in the field.
Fifteen Wisconsin dailies, 15 weeklies and three radio and TV stations have financially supported students from their areas.
The Post-Crescent is sponsoring Douglas Demlow, Appleton Senior High School student of a new two-year contract for non-editorial workers.

Songs for a Summer Evening

A warm Sunday evening became a delightful and memorable event as guests of the Appleton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary met at the Karl Sager home, 1300 Greengrove Road, for a buffet supper and musical program.

The event was the 16th in the Auxiliary's current program of Petite Musicales. Artists, singing romantic duets, were Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Young, Neenah. The couple was accompanied by Don Brown. At the conclusion of their program, guests joined in community singing, led by

Mrs. E. A. Fetting, Auxiliary president, and accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert Beglinger. The rolling lawn of the Sager home was an ideal setting for the supper and program. Lanterns, an umbrella and floral table decorations set a festive air for the end to a summer weekend. Committee members were

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Herzfeldt, Mr. and Mrs. James Prink, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Patten, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Siefert, Mr. and Mrs. Dale C. Sammlson and Mr. and Mrs. Randall Bous. Another evening program for couples is planned Aug. 9 at the Robert Spooner home. Mrs. Carl J. Schroeder has been hostess chairman for the musicale. Mrs. Paul Hollinger, Mrs. R. F. Voll and Mrs. Sager have had charge of the programs.

Mrs. Vern Ames served seconds on sandwiches to Maj. and Mrs. Robert Brownlee who recently returned from Germany, Mrs. Carl Schroeder, chairman of the hostess committee for all the Musicales, Mrs. L. R. Watson and Mr. Schroeder. Mrs. Brownlee is the daughter of the Schroeders. Below, enjoying a quiet shaded spot in the Sager yard, are Mrs. Henry Madsen, Mrs. Emma Voecks and Miss Frieda Hagen.

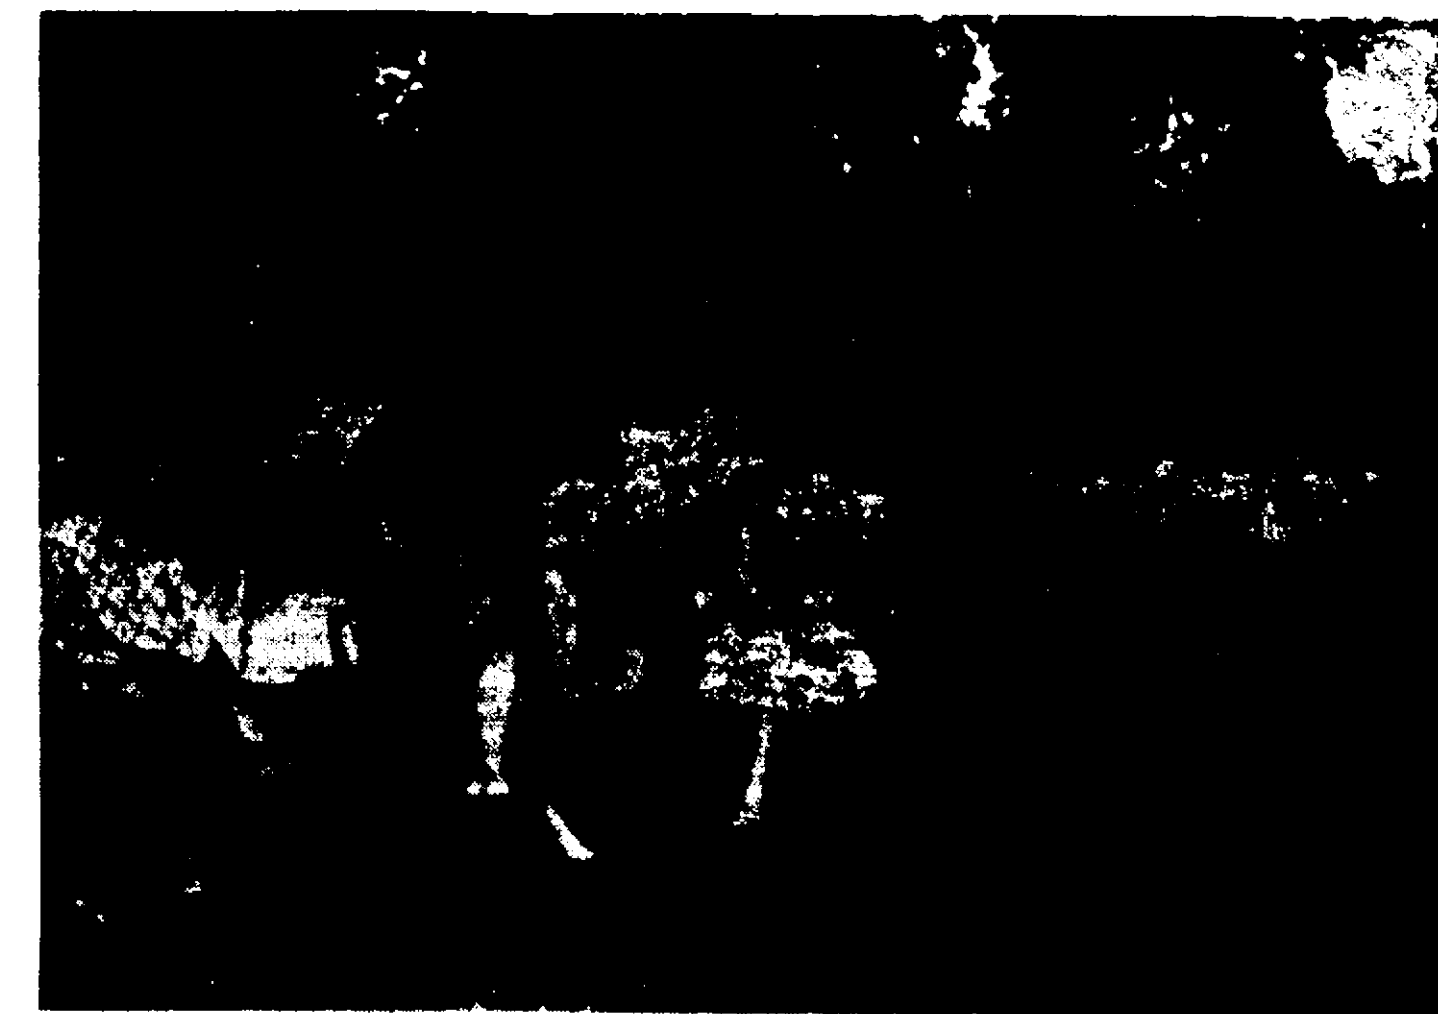

Gerald Herzfeldt, his committee duties accomplished, sat on a stone ledge and enjoyed the music.

R. H. Gehrke shut himself off with the sound and the summer evening as he listened to the Youngs sing.

A Program of Vocal Selections was presented by Gig and Sandra Young at the evening supper and program Sunday. The couple is shown above with their accompanist, Don Brown. Below, the rural setting encouraged relaxation and enjoyment. Listening to the singers are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Casselman, a new Lawrence faculty family, formerly at Downer, and Mrs. Paul Hollinger, a committee member. (Post-Crescent Photos)

The Johnson-Blessman Unit 38 American Legion Auxiliary Trio placed first in music competition at the Legion State Convention held July 17 to 19 at Wausau. The trio is composed of Mrs. Robert Klitzke, Mrs. Edward V. Krueger and Mrs. George Fitz. The win marks the first time the group has appeared in competition. They sang "Green Cathedral" and "Thank Heaven for Little Girls." Miss Susan Reiland, Neenah, was accompanist. Mrs. Edward Arndt of the Johnson-Blessman Unit was elected vice president of the American Legion Auxiliary at the Department Convention. Mrs. Arndt was presented the Medal of Honor for her work on the legislative program. The presentation was made by state

Mrs. McClanahan Elected at Conclave

"Very excited" was the description Mrs. Mabel McClanahan gave of her feelings at being elected third vice president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at their convention in Detroit, Mich. Mrs. McClanahan phoned her boss, Herbert Crane, who has encouraged Federation activity. Mrs. McClanahan will be officially installed Thursday evening, will attend a board meeting Friday and executive committee sessions Saturday and Sunday. She defeated Dr. Francis Whitehead of Macomb, Ill., who served as secretary while Senator Gordon W. Roosevelt, Darlington, of the 17th legislative district.

Mrs. McClanahan was treasurer. The newly-elected officer will work especially for a constitutional amendment for equal rights for women. "I can't support this gradual theory," Mrs. McClanahan states, "it would take forever. We need an actual amendment." She will also push the Federation's project to develop young women leaders.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

RETICENT NEIGHBOR

Dear Louise: I have a neighbor friend who often drops in at the kitchen door. We enjoy our short, pleasant conversations. If someone else rings the front doorbell, she makes a fast dash for home without even a goodbye. What can I do to convince her to stay? Isn't it strange that someone would make such a quick get-away? This friend is a delightful person and apparently is lonely as she doesn't seem to have many friends. I would like to help her.

Louise Davis Answers: No doubt your neighbor is extremely shy and lacks poise. I also think in her own way, she is thoughtful, not wanting to horn in. There isn't much that you can do to change this personality trait, but I suggest you make an extra effort to persuade her to stay when you have a caller. You might tell her frankly during your twosome conversations that you are always disappointed when she runs away. If you think she needs help, I suggest that you invite her to drop in tomorrow afternoon around 4 for a cup of tea and a cookie. Have some out-going friend ring your bell in about 15 minutes when I'm sure your neighbor wouldn't dash for home. Meeting new people, though agonizing at first, may become such a habit that she will adjust to it from experience. If she seems too shy to join in conversational repair, you can make a point of close appropriate subjects.

Marriage Promises Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaefer, route 1, Malone, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Miss Alice Sabel, attended as maid of honor. Miss Nancy Schaefer, the bridegroom's sister, was a bridesmaid.

Harold Schaefer served his twin brother as best man. Groomsman was Alex Sabel, the bride's brother. Guests were seated by Kenneth Schaefer and David Gremminger, both of Campbellport.

Wedding guests were received at Community Hall, Mt. Calvary.

After a wedding trip to the New York World's Fair, the couple will live at Oshkosh. The bride has been employed at the Farmers and Merchants Bank, Marytown. Her husband is employed at Young's Barber Shop, Oshkosh.

Model Apple Core To Make Doll Face

BY REBA & BONNIE CHURCHILL

You don't have to be a "Johnny Appleseed" to watch this hobby idea sprout. The transformation literally develops before your eyes as an apple core is sculptured into a doll's face, then allowed to dry for two weeks. During this time lapethe fruit begins to wither into a craggy-faced personality that can be turned into figurine cook-ends, shelf displays or table pieces. Since the dehydration process cannot be controlled, some artists use plastic wood and mould the features while the material is still wet. But, whether you prefer the core or plastic technique, the rest of the procedure is the same. A two-inch piece of heavy wire (a paper clip will do) is inserted so one end pierces the "head," the other is wedged into a ball of cork. The body is fashioned from twin pieces of wire, formed in a T-shape, and connected to the cork.

Sheinwold Identify Mistake Correctly

When your partner pulls a boner your best move is to say a consoling "Hard luck, old boy" (or old girl, as the case may be) and go on cheerfully to the next boner. Otherwise you may find yourself arguing about the wrong thing.

Afterwards, pad the torso with cotton and fabric. To simulate a pot tummy, attach an empty spool of thread to the silhouette. Next, inspect your aged specimen. Does it resemble a sun-licked prospector, a year-year flapper, a leathery-looking seafarer? Once its action-packed future is decided, bend padded wire legs into an appropriate stance, then attach to torso.

Another personality pointer is using flat interior paint to color skin and features, followed by a protective covering of varnish. Also, including plastic wood hands and feet, false hair and appropriate costumes increase the individuality.

Now, if you wish to add some junior citizens to your senior "seedlings," try making fabric figures from pink broadcloth. Double the material and cut the face and body as a single unit. Stitch the sides and top of the outline, fill with sawdust, then sew the opening closed. Continue "Operation Shape-Up" by attaching sawdust-packed arms and legs. The latter are extra long and have a wire inserted down each limb to aid in balancing and posing the figures.

Embroidery thread is used to fashion the facial features, yarn the hair and fabric scraps the costumes. The results, winning and whimsical, entertain a youngster, interest an adult. However, whether you're admiring cloth caricatures or appreciating apple artistry, you'll be surrounded with pleasant companions.

Royalty Weds In Portugal

SINTRA, Portugal (AP)—Amadeo Duke of Aosta, second in line of succession to the defunct Italian throne, was married today to Princess Claude of France, a daughter of the French pretender.

Europe's foremost royal claimants attended the wedding of the 20-year-old couple in the 16th century church of Sao Pedro in this mountainside resort northwest of Lisbon.

Among the guests were ex-King Umberto of Italy, his only son, Prince Vittorio Emanuele, Don Juan de Bourbon, the Spanish pretender, and his son, Prince Juan Carlos.

Parents' World Girl's Mom Advised Child's Sacrifice Goal be Ordinary

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: We have a daughter who is now 15. As far back as when she was 10, she was wild about horses. By 12, her interest still hadn't dimmed. So we talked it over and decided if she could earn enough to buy a horse and stable him, we would let her.

We found out Dr. Jones it costs $30 a month to take care of the horse and she could buy one for $150. She chose instead to buy a colt for $50 and to bring him up herself. She earned all the money herself by babysitting in earnest and by saving every dime of her allowance and all the gifts she received at birthdays and holidays. It took her a year to buy him.

Now she has developed a great sense of self-reliance and she knows the value of money and she gets enormous pleasure from this endeavor.

So if it isn't a burden for the rest of the family, I can't see why buying a horse should be considered, as you consider it, a foolish goal. Certainly if every possibility is investigated, most parents should be able to help a child attain his heart's desire.

A child shouldn't be required to suffer unduly for his "heart's desire," and whatever sacrifice made should not continue for long periods of time. Also, the goal desired should be something ordinary.

A wealthy family that can afford the costs of routine care of a horse is therefore the only family that has the freedom to require a child to save to purchase his own horse. A farm family might, too.

But most of us are city-dwellers, without large estates, and we're middle-class folk. The cost of stabling a horse is more than we usually budget for all a child's advantages like music lessons, sports equipment, dancing lessons, club membership dues, etc. To sacrifice all these cultural, social and athletic opportunities to eke out the costs of horse-care from the family budget is parental irresponsibility. It denies a child more sources of good than are possibly attainable in mere horse ownership.

To permit a child to work the number of hours per month needed to make this much money himself is to let him do something that hurts him by preventing him from having the leisure he needs

The Ailing House

Soak Dry Tape for Removal

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: During the winter months, to keep out some of the cold, I put masking tape on varnished living room windows. Now the tape has dried so I cannot open the windows, nor can I remove the tape. How could I remove this without removing the varnish too?

A: Try using a non-flammable liquid spot remover as a solvent for the dried tape, allowing it to soak for a while. Peel off when softened, then rub off residue with finest steel wool.

Q: We have a light oak floor in a bedroom. While washing the walls with a cleaning solution, some accidentally spilled on the varnished floor. By the time I got it all wiped up the floor had turned black. We tried the following to remove the discoloration: First sanding, but went too deep. Next we used a wood bleach which turned the spots pure white. Then we tried a light stain varnish, but it wouldn't cover; the spots still show. What do you advise?

A: Did you follow label directions carefully when using the bleach, especially as to after-treatment? Check the manufacturer's instructions. Sand off the varnish in the affected area, or use a varnish remover. Touch up with a penetrating floor sealer (after wiping off all dust), in a matching color. Varnish to match rest of the floor.

Q: I have a lovely oil painting of a landscape. Over the years, it has become very dark and soiled, frame included. Is there anything I can do to clean it, or does it require a professional?

A: Since this is obviously a painting which you value, I strongly urge having the cleaning done by a professional. If this is not a gilded-type frame, try cleaning the frame with a cream, clean-up wax made by a nationally known manufacturer.

Before starting to clean the painting, wipe an obscure corner with a damp cloth to see whether it will resist water. If the color comes off, don't attempt the job yourself. If colorfast, use a pure, mild, neutral soap, taking it up on a slightly moist cloth or sponge, rubbing gently on the painting with a circular motion. When the entire surface has been covered, take up the soap and dirt with a soft, clean cloth or sponge wet with clear, tepid water. When the painting is clean, shake off any remaining water, don't wipe it off. Then stand the painting at an angle in a warm, airy place to dry naturally. Directing an electric fan at the painting will speed up the drying.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... tiny parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 8 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it: First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge, small, easy-to-take tablets... special cases for children and adults.

Taffy's Tips

By Dolly Martin

For reducing tension the routine below is infallible. Actresses, models and public speakers use it to keep their gestures flexible and "seeworthy."

1. Sit at a table, and place hands flat on it. Tap fingers in turn, raising each as high as possible and lowering each with equal force. Repeat five times, always working for increased speed and rhythm.
2. Rest elbows on table and raise to shoulder level. Make tight fists and then stretch fingers wide apart; slowly touch

SOME CALL IT ART

Here's Taffy's version of Pop Art. But if you're not too impressed, let it just serve to remind you of another subject. Instead of going into detail, let's see what other uses can be made of Taffy's masterpiece. If you're fresh out of shampoo, but need a hair-washing badly and all the stores are closed for the evening, remember there's nothing wrong with a bar of plain old soap. Yes, any mild facial soap will do. The non-caustic soap is better, though. Castile and oil base soaps provide a better lather and it's not bad for your face, neck and ears as well. But always use some kind of rinse—either lemon squeezed and strained or white vinegar. This makes hair softer and gets out all the suds.

Out of Husband's Mental Class; Wife Urged to Go to School

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column covers an enormous range, but somehow you rarely publish letters hours a day as a receptionist from working and then I went home to wash, wives of college iron, cook, mend and scrub students? Why? Often I was up until 2 a.m. I can't believe typing his papers and doing his research.

Landers: I know very well they have problems. I no longer have a problem. Ann I've got a heartache. After one year of college I married a boy who was bright and promising. He had a scholarship, but it wasn't enough for us to live on, so I quit school and went to work to put him through. He did four He's doing brilliantly in his profession now but I don't seem to fit into his life anywhere. I'm out of my depth with his intellectual friends. We don't speak the same language.

If you girls want to work to put your husbands through school, my advice is make sure you stay in school, too. Instead of working eight hours a day — work four hours a day and let the genius work four. While he is growing and developing intellectually, make sure you are doing the same. I didn't and I'm — SORRY.

Dear Sorry: Instead of just being "Sorry" why not convert some of that self pity into positive action? Go back to school, stop feeling inferior and get into the ball game.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I have been married for 12 years and I can truthfully say we appreciate each other. Her mother, who lives in Topeka, was operated on for a malignancy two months ago. The surgeon told us immediately after the operation that her

Now I regret my gesture. I have to take my laundry to the corner and I eat out every night. I hate being by myself. I know my wife is not having a picnic out there, but I'm alone any way you look at it.

I feel a lot better after I put my better thoughts down on paper. Don't you feel I'm entitled to blow my top and take it? Should I write to her and express my true feelings and consider it "therapy" for me? — Solo

Dear Solo: By all means, write. Get it out of your system. The messier the letters, the better. But please mail them to me — not to her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a college junior working my way through school selling shoes. I'm not exactly a Paul Newman but I wouldn't scare any little children, either.

The problem is I'm shy around chicks. It fractures me the way the fellows here get dates with no effort. They say exactly the right thing, and it works like a charm. A certain girl (I will call her Miss 5 Double A) comes in almost every Saturday. She is always carrying some good books — the ones I've been wanting to read — so I know we would have a lot in common.

How can I get to know her better without appearing to be "fresh"? If you can come up with a good opener I'd be grateful. — Canal Boat Eddy

Dear Eddy: Next time "Miss 5 Double A" comes in tell her you are writing a telephone book and would like to include her number.

Room and Board Cost Tied To Household's Living Scale

BY MARY FEELEY
Contributor to Family Independence

Dear Miss Feeley, I am a college student away from home because of parental difficulties. My father is against my going to college.

Because of this fact, I was living with a family as a live-in baby sitter. This situation was pleasant but time-consuming, and I found that I couldn't give enough time to the children and still have the necessary time to live my own life.

I am now living with my girl friend's family until I can find permanent living quarters. The problem is the amount of money I should pay them for living in their home. Her mother suggested I write to you.

They are perfectly willing to let me share one of the rooms but they feel that I should contribute toward my board expenses. I agree, but neither of us knows what is a fair price.

I am presently working at the college to defray the cost of tuition, board, and all personal necessities. I receive no financial assistance from my father. Therefore I can not afford to pay too extravagant a price, but I want to be fair to these people.

Could you please suggest an amount that would be fair to them and to me? Thank you very much for your assistance.

J. H., Cleveland

month for 12 months — I would receive interest of $480 per year on the $12,000?

I understand that the first two years the interest is low, but after two years I would be receiving two separate interest checks amounting to about $40 income per month.

Dear G. F.,

You are certainly correct in assuming you will receive interest of $480 per year on 12 $1,000 H bonds. But this plan will not start until you have had the last bond for two years. If you're setting up a retirement plan requiring this monthly income, you are wise in starting this three years in advance.

Here's how the schedule of interest shapes up in dollars and cents:

Interest from first six months of ownership $8.00 for each bond or $96 for 12 bonds.

Interest received from first year ownership of one bond $14.00 or $174 for 12 bonds.

Interest received after one and one-half years for one bond $16 and for 12 bonds $192. The next 17 checks (8½ years) $20 for each bond or $240 semi-annually for 12 bonds. This interest for the 8½ years of course totals $480 a year.

You can write to Mary Feeley in care of Appleton Post-Crescent.

A common, old-fashioned blister can spoil a summer week-end or a vacation trip.

If you enjoy a lot of golf tennis or hiking during your vacation weeks, a blistered foot or finger can be a minor calamity.

The blister merits closer attention than we usually grant it. The admonitions that apply to organized athletics also are sound tips for the millions of weekend and vacation athletes.

The blister is caused by pressure and friction on a localized area of the skin. Fluid collects between the inner and outer layers of skin. If pressure is continued, it hurts. Even if no infection follows, the pain can cause a limp that isn't much fun for the golfer or hiker, and it can upset the customary grip on a tennis racket or golf club or on a canoe paddle.

Prevention Tactics

The best approach to blisters is prevention. Proper fit of shoes is fundamental. There should be room beyond the big toe, room across the top, fitting of the ball of the foot into the widest part of the shoe and no slipping at the heel.

Wearing two pairs of socks, a lightweight pair under sweat socks, is recommended for athletes. Hands can be protected by taping or by special sports gloves.

Decision on whether or not to puncture a blister is based on location, size and inflammation. If there are signs of inflammation or irritation, medical attention is indicated. Sometimes it is advisable to puncture a blister before it breaks from friction. Wash the area with soap and water and sterilize with alcohol. The puncture is made with a sharp needle held in a forceps (small pliers) and sterilized in a flame. The puncture is made at the side of the blister and the outer skin layer is left in place as a protective cover.

Attention to cleanliness in dealing with blisters cannot be overstressed. Infected blisters require prompt medical attention, as do the occasional blisters from severe sunburn or other burn causes.

Water Pollution Unit Outlines Clean-Up For Lake Winnebago

MADISON (AP) — A conference with state officials has been suggested for Lake Winnebago communities looking for help in cleaning up after large fish kills.

The proposal was made Tuesday at a meeting of the State Water Pollution Committee by its director, Theodore F. Wisniewski.

Lester Voigt, the State Conservation Department director, also urged such a meeting. He outlined department policy, saying:

"When the fish are alive and swimming around, they belong to the Conservation Department. When they're dead and lying on the shore they belong to you (the pollution committee)."

Seek Help

Wisniewski said that many communities had sought help from the state last month when thousands of white bass piled up on the shore of the lake. But he said disposal was a local responsibility.

He suggested that a meeting to consider the problem include health officers from Lake Winnebago communities represent Kenosha Council Votes Fluoridation

KENOSHA (AP) — By a 13-3 vote Monday night, the Kenosha City Council authorized fluoridation of the city's water supply. Backers of the plan said Kenosha was the last major Wisconsin city to take the step.

The committee delayed a vote on 30 antipollution orders affecting The Kenosha County Dental Society played a key role in the campaign to win approval.

Dear J. H.,

If you have all your meals in your friend's home, the actual cost of feeding you could range from $5.50 to about $8 a week. This depends on the scale of living in that particular household, and how many people in the family I base the above figures on a household of four. I think you might ask your friend's mother if she feels that $7 for your food sounds reasonable, in relation to her usual food budget for the week.

Then you should consider laundry, the extra electricity, the fact that you will be using bed linen, towels, etc. And if they pay a water bill, then there's a bit extra there, too. I think $8 or $10 a week would be about the minimum you should consider. Discuss this frankly with your hostess and get her reaction.

Perhaps you might trade a little help around the house for actual cash payment: helping in the kitchen, with the laundry or housecleaning. Naturally you'll assume the responsibility for keeping the room you share in good order. There are many little ways of making yourself useful around the house, and even if you aren't committed to certain jobs, do as much as you can to make yourself welcome.

You're lucky to have this pleasant living arrangement, and I hope it continues to work out. You have a lot of courage to insist on getting an education the hard way, J. H., but the rewards will be many and certain.

Dear Miss Feeley: Am I correct in assuming that if I buy a $1,000 H bond — one per

OAS Expected to Seek Crackdown This Week on Trading With Cuba

BY JOHN M. BIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Organization of American States is expected to ask all non-Communist nations this week to join in a new crack-down on trade with Cuba.

Should the bid be even partially successful, Prime Minister Fidel Castro's creaky economy undoubtedly would suffer serious new damage through the denial of badly needed imports.

Cuba's railway system is reported to be in a crippling state of disrepair. Trucks and buses

Javits Says He Will Not Support Sen. Goldwater

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Tuesday he will not support Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican nominee for president, but that he "will not bolt the party."

Javits told a news conference, "I will remain a Republican... and I urge all Republican progressives to remain in the party. We must not surrender our party for all time to the ultra-conservative forces."

Javits had supported Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the GOP presidential nomination. Javits said that neither would he support President Johnson, who is slated for nomination by the Democrats.

are urgently required to replace worn-out highway transport. People stand in long, slow-moving lines to buy food at the stores.

The price of gasoline, which Cuba reportedly gets only from Soviet sources, is up to 60 cents a gallon as against 34 cents a year ago. Production of sugar, Cuba's big export crop, is off more than 25 per cent.

Castro Regime

In the judgment of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and some of the other Western Hemisphere foreign dignitaries meeting here this week, the Castro regime is vulnerable on its economic front, primarily a United States drive to apply new pressures among Latin-American buyers to boycott the products of European countries trading with Cuba.

And since they need to buy many of the same things that the Cubans require, those companies interested in Cuban trade might be faced with the loss of markets more important than those they could gain by opening up commerce with Cuba.

Isolate Cuba

U.S. officials say that their policy of trying to isolate Cuba from the supplies of non-Communist industrial countries is responsible for some of the severe difficulties which Castro now has to deal with. They estimate that the level of Cuban economic activity is about 20 per cent below that of 1958, the year before Castro took power. They say studies of living standards in Cuba also show a 15 per cent drop in the Cuban food diet.

No one here claims, however, that the boycott policy is wholly responsible for Castro's ills. Officials put a considerable share of the blame on what they call Castro's mismanagement of Cuban affairs and his determined effort to remake the country along Communist lines with highly organized central planning and elimination of individual incentives.

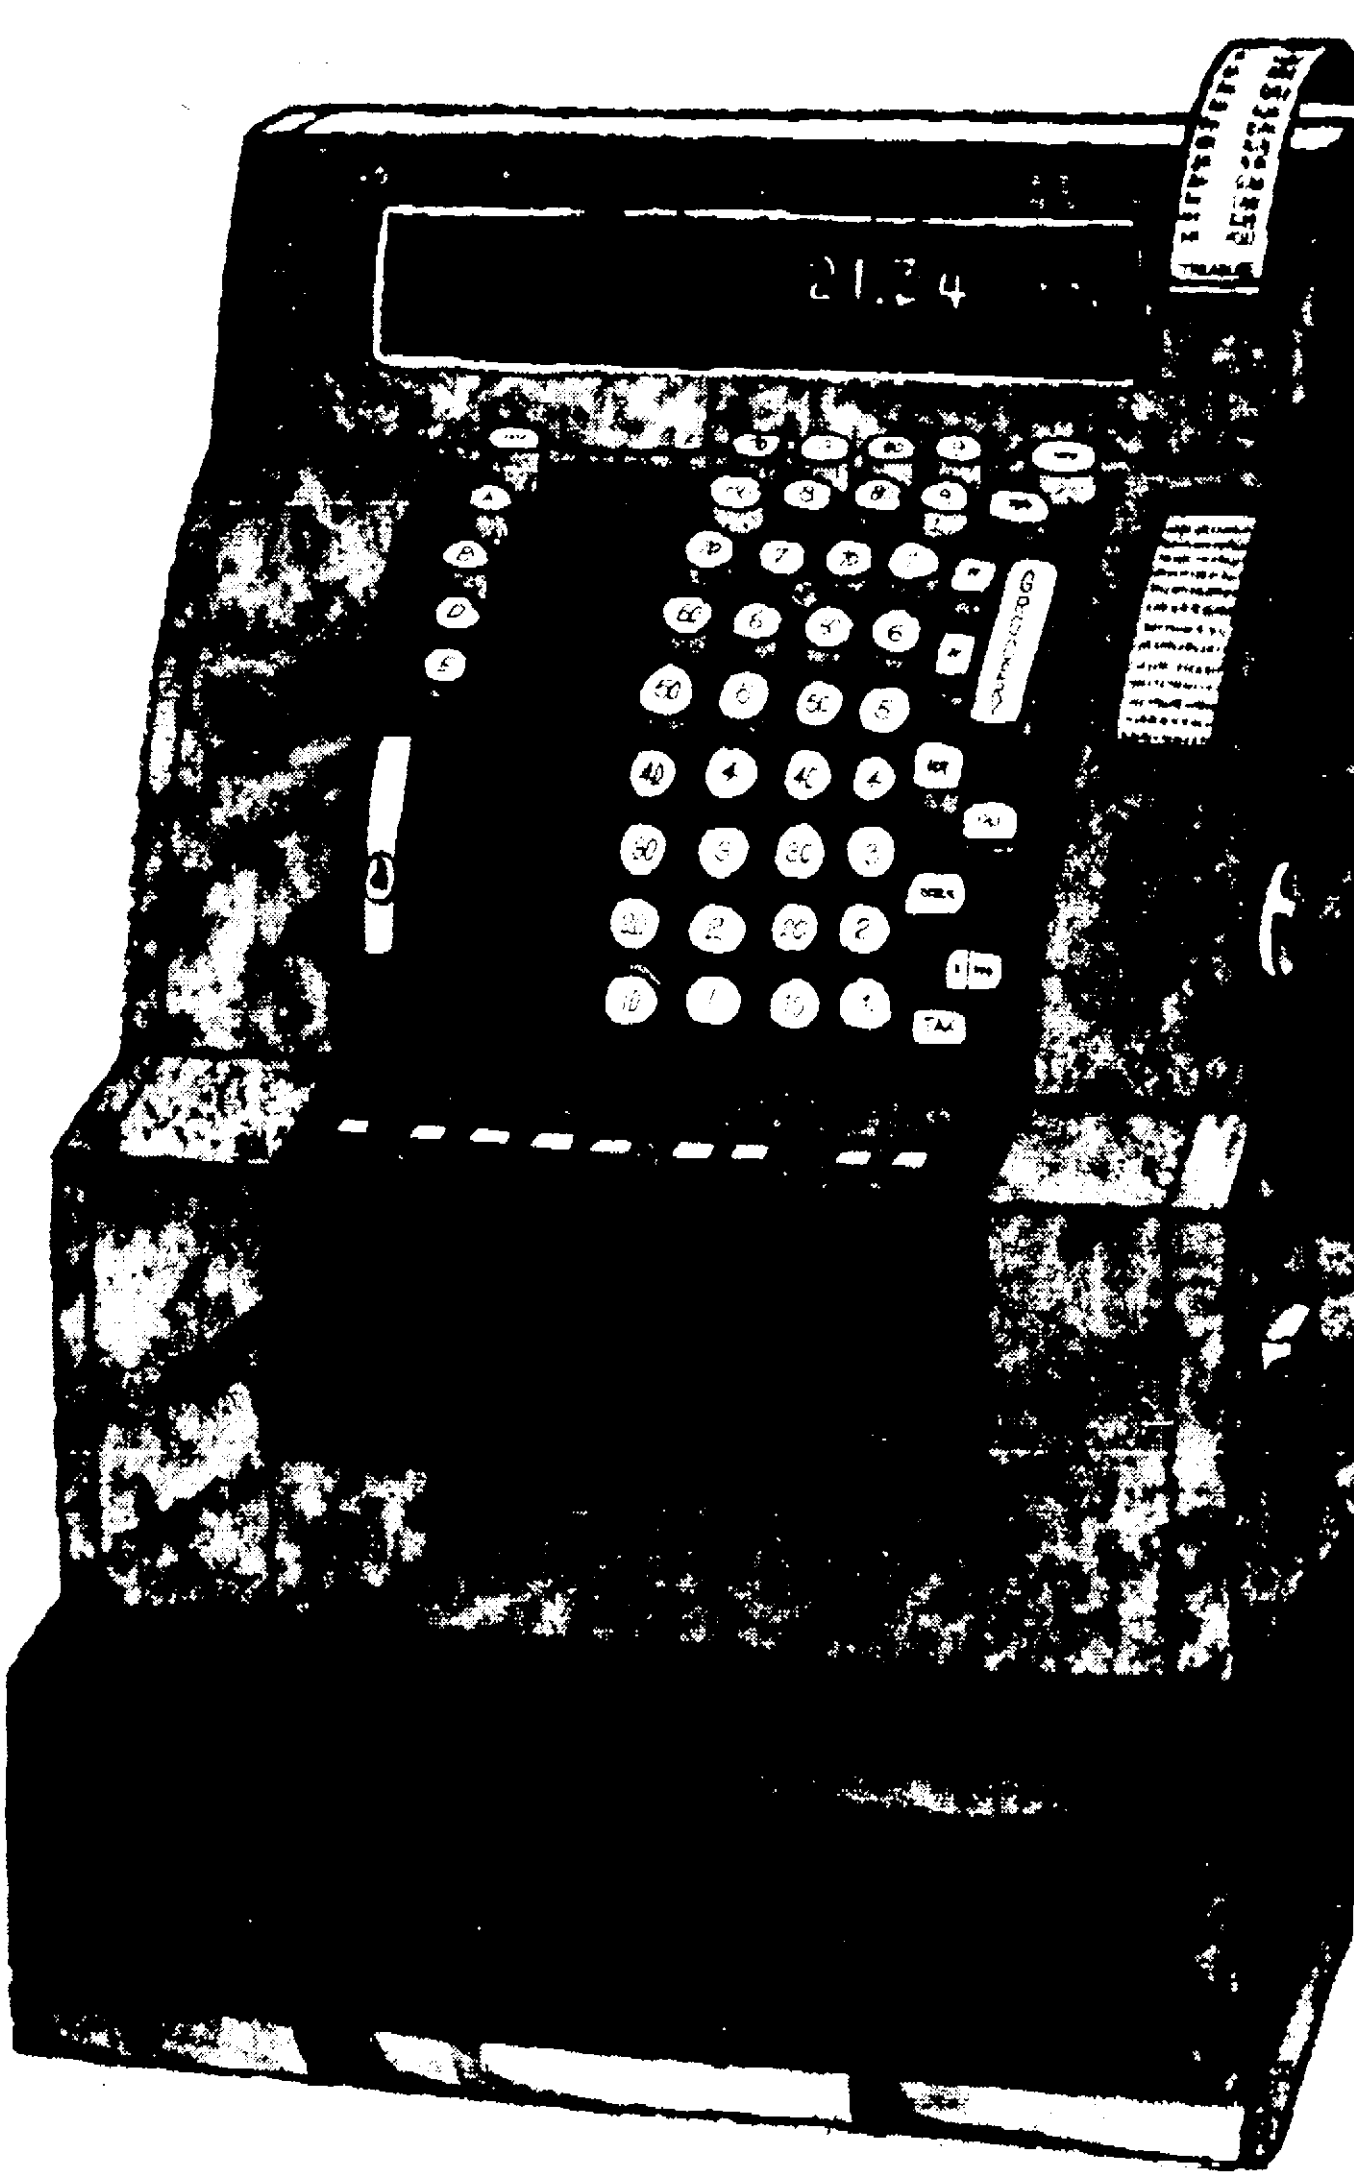

Nor does any responsible official in the U.S. government claim that economic stresses alone have created any serious threat to Castro's control of any incipient opposition.

Officer Claims Self-Defense But Some Stories Deny Boy Had Knife

BY JOHN MORGANTHAUER
NEW YORK (AP)—Police Lt. Thomas R. Gilligan, whose fatal shooting of a 15-year-old Negro boy triggered the Harlem and Brooklyn riots, is a 286-pound white six-footer with 16½ years on the force.

He says the boy, James Powell, came at him with a knife and he shot in self-defense. A grand jury is weighing his story against other accounts which say the boy was not armed.

Gilligan has been cited 19 times for outstanding police work, including four times when he disarmed men with guns. He has rescued women and children from fire and prevented a suicide by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

He draws $77 a month compensation from the government for an undisclosed military service disability.

Off-Duty Incidents

Three years ago, as a sergeant, he shot a 16-year-old boy in the shoulder. He caught the boy rifling a parked car and the boy hit him with a fire hose nozzle, breaking two fingers.

In both shooting incidents, Gilligan, 36, was off duty.

Last Thursday, Gilligan, in civilian clothes, had gone to a shop on East 76th Street in the Yorkville section of Manhattan to get a radio repaired.

He said that at about 9:15 a.m. he came out of the shop and saw several boys, with garbage cans lids, chase a man into the apartment house next door.

Disregarded Warning

He showed his badge to one of the boys—Powell—but the boy came at him with a knife. Gilligan said he warned him to stop but the boy kept coming.

Gilligan said he fired a warning shot which hit the boy in the hand, but he kept coming. Then he fired twice more, one shot killing young Powell.

Gilligan says his hand was cut. He has been on sick leave because of the injury.

According to the account released by Deputy Chief Inspector Joseph C. Boyle, a knife was found in the street, a foot from the curb.

Young Powell lived with his widowed mother in a city housing project in the Bronx. He was arrested in 1963 as a juvenile delinquent in an attempted robbery, but the charge was dismissed. Police records also show three minor brushes with the law.

The boy was taking a summer course in remedial reading at a junior high school across the street from where he was killed.

Patrick Lynch, 34, an Irish immigrant who is superintendent of the apartment building, says the trouble started when he tried to water flower boxes in front of the building with a hose.

Three Negro boys were on the sidewalk, he said, and he warned them repeatedly to move or they would get sprayed. He says the boys started throwing garbage can lids and he ran into the building. He did not see a knife.

"I said nothing had to those boys," said Lynch.

Negro Girls' Story

Shirley Robinson, 14, a Negro student, said Lynch deliberately sprayed seven boys. She said one boy said, "Say, mister, look out," and Lynch replied, "I'm going to wash all the black off you."

Shirley said the boys chased Lynch into the building and she saw Powell come out "laughing and kind of like running." She said he had no knife, and that Gilligan didn't warn him, but shot him and turned him over with his foot while Powell was on the sidewalk.

Beulah Barnes, a Negro housewife and nurse, told a reporter: "As the boy came out, he shot him twice and then the boy fell to the sidewalk, and that man stood there for maybe 10 minutes just staring at the body. The boy never had any words with the man."

Police say Powell had given two knives to school friends that morning. During the altercation, police said, Powell got one of them back.

Clifton Harris, 15, told a newsman he had given a knife to Powell just after the argument that led to the shooting.

Max Franke, principal of the school, said a teacher, Norman Schoenbrun, found a knife between two parked cars, but he couldn't say whether it was a switchblade, or if it was open or closed. Schoenbrun refused to discuss it with newsmen.

"He's perfect for Tully. He asked her out!"

Puzzled Doctor Solves Family Face Riddle

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Dr. Carl J. Fyler had ridden in an elevator for weeks with a man who looked familiar. Finally he solved him:

"Dear Staling Luft 1 mean anything to you?"

The man replied, "Yes," and then identified himself as Dean McKenna.

Both were prisoners in the German prisoner-of-war camp outside Berlin during World War II. Fyler had been a B-17 pilot and McKenna, now director sales manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., had flown a B-19.

Dr. Fyler was shot down over Bremen on his 25th trip and McKenna went down when his plane was attacked by both flak and fighters near Brandenburg.

Moonshot Slated For Next Week

Rocket Will Carry More Cameras Than Ranger 6

BY RALPH DIGHTON Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—criticism" and interest is running high throughout the huge Ranger 7 will carry more than cameras when it is launched at Television monitors and the moon next week: on it will speakers have been installed be riding the hopes and perhaps throughout the plant to keep the future of the men who made workers informed of Ranger 7's progress during the three-day, 230,000-mile flight to the moon.

After Ranger 6 hit the moon last February but failed for the fourth straight time to return close-up pictures of the lunar surface, scientists at its Jet Propulsion Laboratory birthplace came under severe criticism from the parent U.S. space agency and in Congress.

JPL operations since then have been overhauled and Ranger 7 has been subjected to minutely detailed tests. Result: JPL chief William Pickering gives it a 50-50 chance, compared with the 1-in-4 chance given Ranger 6.

More Confident "We are more confident about Ranger 7—we give it one chance in two—because we have one more shot behind us and some changes have been made to improve the reliability of the craft," Pickering said in an exclusive interview.

"I believe the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is now convinced that this is a complex and difficult job, but that we will be able to get to pictures of the moon from at least one of the next three shots."

Whether Ranger 7 succeeds or not, Pickering said, there will be no more launchings this year due to other commitments at the Atlantic range.

"But we fully expect to fly two more Rangers early next year," he said. "Ranger 8 is already assembled and work has begun on Ranger 9."

Ranger Failure After the Ranger 6 failure NASA Administrator James E. Webb ordered an investigation and later concluded there were faults in design and testing prior to launch.

"NASA has given us strong support on Ranger 7," Pickering said. "There are NASA people in residence, looking over our shoulder at every part, observing tests and making themselves available for consultation on design changes."

Pickering said the morale of the laboratory's 4,000 workers "has recovered from the combined blow of failure and public wrong in case of failure."

scientists and engineers here will go through a full-dress simulation of the flight in the laboratory's new $14.6-million tracking center, which will control the spacecraft after launch. Working with them in the 12-hour drill, as they did in a similar rehearsal Monday, will be 500 technicians at tracking stations around the world plus another 100 at Cape Kennedy.

What will happen if, despite all precautions, Ranger 7 fails to send back pictures scientists need to select a site for manned Apollo moonship landings later in this decade? That's anybody's guess, but NASA has ordered a new deputy director, retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Alvin R. Lueddecke, to come here next month, reportedly as a condition for renewal next December of its contract with the laboratory.

Industry Sources Industry sources here expect Lueddecke to be ruthless if Ranger 7 fails. Ranger project manager Harris Schurmeier said these changes have been cranked into the new craft.

The television system, which reportedly turned itself on too early and burned out during the launching of Ranger 6, has been instrumented so it cannot operate prematurely. After severe vibration tests, wiring was more heavily insulated to prevent the possibility of a short.

The pattern of sunlight-blocking paint on the craft has been changed to reduce interior temperatures by 10 to 15 degrees. The system which radios back data about spacecraft operation, has been beefed up so the control center will have a better chance of knowing what went wrong in case of failure.

Outagamie County Republican Party headquarters moved to College Avenue Monday. The office, at 231 E. College Avenue, will be the headquarters for county GOP campaign activity from now until after the Nov. 3 general election. Hanging the sign is Donald Peeters, GOP candidate for register of deeds. Looking on, from left, are Andrew Jimos, Mrs. John MacDonald, office manager, and Elden Broehm, GOP candidate for sheriff. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Cook County Jail Deathrow Cells Have Been Eliminated

BY JAMES R. PEIPERT

CHICAGO (AP)—Condemned men in Cook County jail used to live in a death row nightmare of leg irons, hysteria and head-busting guards.

Today they have nothing but praise for Warden Jack R. Johnson, who has thrown out the whole death row setup.

"Cook County jail is the only penal institution in the U.S. with capital punishment that has spread throughout the rest of the jail, treated like other prisoners," Johnson told The Associated Press Tuesday in an interview.

The old death row—emptied in 1958—was a maximum security cell-block in the deepest part of the jail, only 10 paces from the electric chair.

Tension and hysteria were spoon's unlocked cell inside a huge locked cellblock. Warden Johnson reached way ahead of his time with this plan," said Witherspoon. "It's like tearing the walls down. It makes the condemned man less of a spectacle."

Similar Treatment Now the condemned men are spread throughout the rest of the jail, treated like other prisoners. Johnson, 46, an ex-combat Marine, said the new plan has worked remarkably well.

Two prisoners now awaiting death also praised Johnson. They are William Witherspoon, 40, who killed a Chicago policeman in 1959, and Lyman Moore, 33, convicted of slaying a bartender with a shotgun in 1962.

The men talked inside Witherspoon's unlocked cell. "Warden Johnson reached way ahead of his time with this plan," said Witherspoon. "It's like tearing the walls down. It makes the condemned man less of a spectacle."

Morbid Feeling Added Moore: "It's a morbid thing to be locked away with all kinds of pressure on you. If you

New Mariner Charts For 2 Great Lakes Areas Now Available

The U.S. Lake Survey has available several new chart editions for marine navigation, updated to show dredged channels, water depths and other features of value to mariners using the Great Lakes waters covered.

Chart No. 62 covers the St. Marys River from Lake Munising and St. Joseph Island to East St. Marie. Chart No. 63 covers all the Straits of Mackinac from False Detour Channel and Presque Isle to Little Traverse Bay, Michigan.

The charts can be procured at $1 each from: U.S. Army Engineer District, Lake Survey, 630 Federal Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Mariners are cautioned not to use obsolete charts as essential information must be up-to-date for safe navigation.

see hysteria, you're subject to get hysteria; if you see calmness, you're subject to get calmness.

"In the past the condemned men were treated like wild animals and they acted like wild animals. Now they're treated like human beings and they act like human beings."

Witherspoon, who has charge of a convalescent cellblock housing 30 men, is respected by his fellow inmates.

"He's the only person I know who can walk into a psychopath cell and calm them down," said Moore.

In his spare time, Witherspoon pecks out short stories and articles on a battered typewriter in his tiny cell. Some of his articles have been published and he says his autobiography is being considered by a large publishing house.

Death Row Witherspoon once was put into the old death row at his request, so he could work on his autobiography. He soon asked to leave because the silence and presence of the electric chair were unbearable.

Warden Johnson, an opponent of what he calls "capital revenge," said most wardens are reluctant to try his plan because they are afraid of public opinion if a condemned man kills or injures a fellow inmate.

But Johnson said the effect on prisoners is just the opposite. "It gives them something to live for, a purpose—despite the fact they're going to die."

Profit Immaterial

A Good Scout Learns Real Joy of Swapping

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—The Boy Scout is a swapper. He'll give almost anything to get almost anything. And some stuff he sells for a profit.

Like the deer hides 15-year-old Skipper Netherly of Junction, Tex., brought along, plus a number of Mexican knives. "I want 10 for the hides," he said, "and I'll take $5 for the knives." He hoped to have taken obsolete charts as essential information must be up-to-date for safe navigation.

Tribute Planned For Goldwater on Return to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Differences among Republicans furnished a backdrop today for a Senate ceremony designed to boost Sen. Barry Goldwater's candidacy for the presidency. Refusal of New York's two Republican senators to back the Arizona senator's White House bid failed to dampen enthusiasm among leaders for an oratorical "welcome back" to their colleague.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who placed Goldwater's name in nomination at the convention in San Francisco, fashioned the tribute.

Welcome Planned His idea was for others to join during the day in a welcome back to "one of our own" who has now become the leader of the party.

But what role if any Republicans like Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, and others opposed to Goldwater's conservative bent, would play, was a question. Javits and Keating issued statements Tuesday in which they said they could "not support" Goldwater as the nominee. Both made it clear they were not bolting the party.

Each said he hoped as the campaign developed his position could change.

the green hills and valleys of historic Valley Forge.

It began when an aerial bomb exploded high in the sky to signal the raising of 1,000 flags as the 52,000 participating scouts and leaders stood at attention.

Joseph A. Brunton Jr., chief of the nation's 5 1/2 million scouts, looked over the city of 30,000 tents and said, "This represents what's good about America."

Scouting covers many generations, and Dr. Herbert L. Harvey, a 74-year-old retired physician from Casper, Wyo., is happy to be the head of one such family. He joined the Boy Scouts in 1912.

Army Colonel His son, Glenn, a colonel in the Army, is a former scout and Harvey's three grandsons—Glenn Jr., 17; Steven, 15, and John, 13, of Falls Church, Va.—are attending the jamboree.

Dr. Harvey, a member of the medical services staff, says "I'm really proud to be alive, and here."

Swapping knows no ages. The Rev. Richard Burns, a Methodist chaplain from St. Mary's, Pa., sat at a table in one of the four trading tents with a pile of Jim-Jacks in front of him. Items he had carved out of wood.

"The boys need to learn the real joy in swapping," said the minister-scout. "When I swap things I explain the history of the item the boy is getting."

Trading Tents The trading tents were jammed with hundreds of boys from every state in the nation, and from many of the 44 foreign countries. They sat cross-legged on the grass floor or crowded around wooden tables.

They had cigar boxes, shoe boxes, paper bags, stuffed with neckerchiefs, shoulder patches, leather patches, stuffed turtles, rattlesnake rattlers, oyster shells, rocks and metal rings. The scouts have been rolling in here since Tuesday. With them came 60 carloads of baggage.

Everything reached its destination, a spokesman said, except one pair of tweezers.

Russian Water Polo Team Disbanded After Purchases Abroad

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet national water polo team has been disbanded because 10 of its 11 members brought foreign clothing back from a tour of Yugoslavia and Romania.

Kommunistkaya Pravda said the athletes told customs men the clothes were for poor relations, but the paper said they planned to sell them on the black market.

Seven of the 10 players were disqualified for a year and two for a term that was not stated. All nine, and the 10th man who was not disqualified, had their sportsman titles withdrawn.

Only one member of the 11-man team, Boris Gribelin, did not have any foreign clothes. He is the only man left in the former national team.

Kommunistkaya Pravda accused the men of "exchanging their honor for foreign rags," and "betraying the honor of Soviet sportsmen."

Malaysian Premier Seeks U. S. Backing

LONDON (AP)—Abdul Rahman, prime minister of Malaysia, left by plane for New York Tuesday to court American support for his Southeast Asian nation against threats from neighboring Indonesia.

Rahman will confer with President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Washington on Wednesday during a two-week official visit to the United States and Canada.

Rahman told a news conference he would ask the Johnson administration to "get tough with Indonesia—lay down the law to President Sukarno."

He said he would not seek direct U. S. aid because of heavy American commitments in Southeast Asia. But he added for the preservation of peace "that any financial aid would be welcome."

The observation came from Atty Gen George Thompson, speaking at the opening of the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Officers Association.

MADISON (AP)—Local lawmen were cited Monday as the "men on whom government lawmen can rely" and should and can rely Wednesday.

Kaukauna '9' Loses, 2-1, in Legion Meet

Home Run in Last of 10th Nets Green Bay Win

Tommy Ullmer's circuit blow over the 328-foot marker in left field at Joannes Park in the bottom of the 10th inning to give the West Green Bay Legion nine an upset win over Kaukauna Tuesday night.

The game was the opening of play here in the American Legion Dist. 3 baseball tourney.

The win went to Steve Wilmet who struck out 15 Kaukauna batters, walked five and allowed five hits. Ed Szoda, the loser, allowed seven hits to the local club and struck out five.

After Kaukauna scored once in the fifth, Green Bay came back to tie on Jim Wirth's single in the seventh. The clubs battled scorelessly until, with two out in the last of the 10th, Ullmer smashed his game winning drive.

Wilmet was in serious trouble in the ninth but came back strong as he struck out two batters with the bases loaded.

Green Bay now moves up to play the winner of the Appleton-East-Monroe contest at Marion tonight.

13 All-Stars Injured in Workouts

Graham Concerned About Sore Arm Of George Mira

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Thirteen of the 47 collegians in the College All-Star football camp reported injuries Tuesday, hampering preparations for the Aug. 7 game with the Chicago Bears at Soldier Field.

All-Star Coach Otto Graham was glum over the worst rash of ailments in his seven years of directing the collegians against the National Football League champion.

"We don't know what to do about scrimmaging," said Graham. "The squad needs it, but we can't afford to lose anybody else."

Graham was concerned about sore-armed George Mira, quarterback from Miami of Florida. Mira hurt his arm trying some long passes after Tuesday morning's drill. The injury is not believed to be serious, but will keep him from throwing for several days.

Series Bruises
At least eight other crumples, with injuries ranging from pulled muscles to serious bruises, also may miss several days of hard work.

These include ends Mel Profit of UCLA, Sam Parks of Texas Tech and Matt Snorton of Michigan State; backs Matt Snell of Ohio State, Ode Burrell of Mississippi State, Joe Don Looney of Oklahoma and Charley Taylor of Arizona State and line-backer Tommy Crutcher of Texas as Christian.

Five ailing players continued to drill, including flanker back Paul Marth of Pittsburgh, and Chuck Logan of Northwestern. Fullback Tony Lorick of Arizona State and quarterbacks Mira and Jack Concanon of Boston College.

The injured reduced the squad to two running backs, Willis Crenshaw of Kansas State and the hobbled Lorick.

Cleveland Trades Linebacker for A Draft Choice

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns traded line-backer Sam Tidmore to the Pittsburgh Steelers Tuesday for an undisclosed draft choice.

Tidmore, 6-foot-1, and 230 pounds, was drafted sixth by the Browns in 1962. He played end on offense and defense at Ohio State.

Quincy to Play Here Tonight

BY TERRY GALVIN

The booming bats of Stan Walters, Fred Rico and Ray Woitkowski paved the way as the Fox Cities Foxes swept a double-header from Decatur 5-4 and 8-2, at Goodland Field Tuesday night.

Walters powered a two-out double to left-center field to plate Steve Huntz for the 5-4 eighth-inning verdict in the initial encounter.

Rico opened the second game with a 3-run homer, his third of the year at Goodland and fifth all told, over the left field wall in the first inning.

Productive Day
Woitkowski, who entered the doubleheader with a rather meager .143 batting average, pegged a home run over the left field wall in the sixth inning of the nightcap with Huntz on the sacks.

Woitkowski enjoyed his most productive day of the season with three hits in six official trips.

Fred Beene, now 4-2, was credited with the win in the opener. Tom Zink, who twirled a shutout through 6½ innings before he wilted in the 8th degree heat, upped his season mark to 6-5 with the win in the finale.

Jump to Lead
Decatur jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning of the initial contest. Two singles and a forecourt produced the score of starting pitcher Ed Hawkins.

The Foxes retaliated with one in the second when Rico was safe on an error. Stan Walters survived on a fielder's choice when he grounded to the mound and Rico was caught in a rundown. Walters took second on the play. Stan scored on Woitkowski's ground single to right.

May Singles
Hawkins walked to open the Foxes' third. He was sacrificed to second and advanced to third on a ground out. Dave May's single scored Hawkins for a 2-1 edge. Clarence Stanley tied the count at 2 with a solo homer in the fourth, his 10th of the season.

Decatur went ahead 4-2 in the fifth with a pair. Hawkins was hit on the leg by a liner from the bat of De Francis with one out and Beene came on in relief. A walk, single and double by Stanley accounted for the runs.

Beene opened the fifth with a single and Sepich walked. A wild pitch advanced the runners and Beene scored on John Matias' ground out.

Woitkowski led-off the seventh with a single and was forced at second by Beene. Sepich rapped a double to the left-center.

Phillies Shell Braves' Lefties, Gain 6-3 Win On 14 Hits, 2 Homers

Mahaffey and Baldschun Combine for Mound Victory; Spahn Pitches Tonight

BY DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves' steady diet of southpaw pitching for the Philadelphia Phils backfired. The result: the Braves fourth defeat in their last 14 games.

The front-running Phils, who had been defeated seven times by left-handers in dropping nine of 13 previous outings, pounded southpaws Wade Blasingame and Billy Hoelt en route to a 6-3 victory over the Braves Monday night before a crowd of 22,110 at County Stadium.

Philadelphia finished with 14 hits, including three in the ninth when it scored two unearned runs off right-handers Bob Tiefmauer and Chi Chi Olivo after a costly throwing error by Frank Bolling on a doubleplay grounder.

The defeat dropped Milwaukee into fifth place, 6½ games behind the Phils.

Blasingame New 2-2
Blasingame, whose record was evened at 2-2, was nipped for eight hits, including homers by Bobby Wine and Tony Taylor, in six innings. Hoelt surrendered three hits and a run in two innings of work.

Right-hander Art Mahaffey and reliever Jack Baldschun combined to stop the Braves on six hits. The Milwaukee sluggers got some good wood on the ball, but none of their drives were hauled down by Philadelphia outfielders.

Mahaffey was rapped by singles by Mike de la Hoz, filling in for the injured Eddie Mathews, and Lee Maye to start the first, but then got Hank Aaron to rap into a doubleplay. Then he hurled hitless ball until the seventh.

Wine sent Philadelphia in front with his third homer, a line shot into the left field bleachers, in the second Taylor collected his third homer on a "wrong field" shot just inside

'Real Bear Cat,' Lombardi Says After Special Relay Drill

GREEN BAY (AP)—"Damn end Willie Davis said, 'That heat,' shouted Coach Vince Lombardi after sending his National Football League Green Bay Packers through a special relay drill Tuesday.

He was dead right about the outcome, and the weather—an oppressive combination of 91-degree temperatures and humidity to match. But while the drill left some players winded and nearly all of them lighter, they all survived.

Defensive tackle Dave Hanner the senior Packer at 34, leaned against his locked and puffed, "I'm a long way from being in playing condition."

Lombardi's special relay drill ed away some 480 pounds—an average of eight pounds per man.

Hank Jordan, another defensive lineman, said his loss was more than the average as he dropped 16 pounds. Defensive

Each player took the football and dashed the 100 yards to the opposite goal and handed the ball to a teammate who carried it back.

The defensive unit, given some extra hands named Paul Hornung and Tom Moore, appeared to earn the dead heat when defensive anchor man Hank Gremminger and rookie back Tom O'Grady of Northwestern, the last man for the offense, finished shoulder to shoulder.

One More Mile
Hanner, who is starting his 13th season, said the reason is simple—"I want to play on one more championship team. Don't put me in the old man's class yet. There's a limit to everything, but I truthfully feel I can help the Packers. And I'll prove what he saw Monday of rookie it."

The Packer relay race was cheered by 500 spectators Tuesday, our cadence and our plays, day, and a considerably larger very fast," said Lemm. "He's a crowd is expected for the intra-big kid and he looks as though squad game, set for Aug. 1.

The Packers announced today Ripon College, joined other Big p.m., with the price of tickets Red veterans and rookies in two $1 for adults and 25 cents for stiff workouts in 90-degree heat children.

into the report of Communist influence. He said he did not believe federal troops or the National Guard would be needed to preserve order.

Burglaries Reported

Police reported a number of the burglaries in Harlem, the big Negro neighborhood in Manhattan. A few shots were fired by police to disperse unruly gatherings. But there were no large crowds demonstrations or anything like the weekend rioting in which one man was killed and more than 100 injured.

In Brooklyn, the trouble started after a Black Nationalist street rally that drew about 500 Negroes. Firecrackers exploded in the crowd and many people scattered in panic.

More than 200 police moved in to quell the disturbance. They fired more than 150 shots in the air. Bottles were thrown. Store windows were broken. Subways were ordered to skip the Franklin and Nostrand street stops for a time.

The crowd broke up after an hour or two and police began getting reports of looting throughout the section.

About 24 Negroes were taken into custody.

A police sergeant said Sumner Avenue was "all torn up," with many store windows broken.

Small crowds gathered at stores where burglar alarms rang in the night. They cursed police whenever patrolmen appeared.

At police headquarters in Manhattan about 250 white teenagers hurled rotten eggs at 16 members of the Congress of Racial Equality, who were picketing Tuesday night against what they called police brutality.

Shout at Pickets

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm, who was talking to reporters when the barrage started, ran to escape it, but was hit on the leg.

The teenagers, who live near the headquarters, shouted "Go back to Harlem" and "Communists" at the pickets.

Civil rights leaders staged several demonstrations, but nearly all were outside the riot-torn Negro sections of Manhattan and Brooklyn. One leader in the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality said the move was to protect CORE members and others from "harsh tactics" of police.

Five demonstrators were arrested at City Hall.

Screvane, acting mayor in Wagner's absence, was asked whether there is evidence that Communists had fostered some disorders.

"I don't think there's any question about it," Screvane said. "Some of the people who have been involved in some of the meetings and rallies that have been called are known Communists, and I don't have any doubt about that."

"I would like to point out, however, that the whole rioting operation is directed toward the so-called fringe groups including the Communist party and some of the other more radical groups and not involving the rank and file persons living in the Harlem community. They're as frightened as people who live outside of the community."

Screvane also said that criminals and rowdy youths took advantage of the disorders.

President Johnson said in a statement issued in Washington that he telephoned Screvane. "I have told him," Johnson said, "of my willingness to cooperate in every way possible to help him in this time of agony."

"It must be made clear once and for all, that violence and lawlessness cannot, must not and will not be tolerated."

Technicians Cleaning Up After Container For Radium Is Broken

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)—Technicians from the State Health Department today were cleaning up areas of a hospital where a radium container was broken.

Terry Hiers Jr., administrator of the Americus-Sumter County Hospital, said the accident last weekend posed no danger to anyone in the hospital.

Technicians were sent to the hospital after it was discovered that some radium salt spilled when a needle broke in a laboratory. Hiers said the needle contained radium salt used in the treatment of cancer.

Senate Passes Bill On Civilian Jobs for Military Ex-Officers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to permit more retired regular military officers to take government civilian jobs without losing much of their retirement pay was approved by the Senate Monday.

Sponsored by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., the measure also removes old restrictions against civilians holding more than one part-time government job.

sonal safety, to life, limb and property, in homes, churches, playgrounds and places of business, particularly in the great cities is the mounting concern of every thoughtful individual. Security from domestic violence no less than from foreign aggression, is the most elementary and fundamental purpose of any government."

In a similar vein, Johnson said in his statement that American citizens have a right to protection of life and limb—whether driving along a highway in Georgia, a road in Mississippi, or a street in New York.

"Appropriate" Action
Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said that if local authorities requested it, the President's action was "perfectly appropriate."

Celler chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the federal government's jurisdiction in local matters such as the Harlem outbreaks "may be a little questionable."

He added, however, it is "quite apparent that New York City police seem unable to prevent the outbreaks, although in they can disperse mobs and dissipate mob violence. I presume that President Johnson thought it necessary to take the same action in New York that he took in Mississippi."

A Mississippi Rep. William M. Colmer, Democrat, said it night after bloody fighting between the two groups broke out on the predominantly Chinese island, was lifted at 6 a.m. It was reimposed four and a half hours later, after reports that a mob was surging through the city overturning vehicles.

Clashes which had flared throughout the night appeared to increase after daylight. Singapore's General Hospital said four more injured were admitted after the night curfew was lifted, and that 41 persons injured in Tuesday night's violence were in critical condition.

Roadblock Erected

In one Chinese quarter hundreds of Chinese massed in the streets. Troops with fixed bayonets manned barbed wire roadblocks at major intersections.

Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, in Williamsburg, Va., prior to talks with President Johnson, expressed shock over the riots. He said he believed it was "gratifying to see that the President has taken cognizance of the fact that these things occur in New York City as well as in Mississippi."

Colmer added that he was doubtful of the president's authority to take the action he did. "It was about time that a little leadership was forthcoming from the White House on these matters," commented Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa.

the racial outbreak stemmed from Communist or Indonesian attempts to stir up trouble. Indonesian President Sukarno has vowed to crush the Malaysian federation, labeling it a ruse to perpetuate British colonial rule.

Started Tuesday
The rioting began Tuesday during a procession of 25,000 Malays celebrating the birth of the prophet Mohammed.

Official reports said a policeman who ordered stragglers to rejoin the procession was attacked by the Malays. Unofficial informants said the policeman was Chinese.

The riot came nine days after a market place scuffle at Bukit Mertajam, 250 miles north of Kuala Lumpur, set off a clash between Malays and Chinese in which two persons were killed and 13 injured.

Chinese who poured in during British colonial rule make up 42 per cent of Malaysia's 10 million people. The Malays 40 per cent. The Malays resent the strong Chinese hold on the economy. The Chinese resent the Malays' predominance in the federal government.

Senate Fight Expected in War on Poverty

Mike Mansfield of Montana called the bill up for action in the Senate, the House Rules Committee planned to resume hearings on a companion measure.

Administration leaders were confident the committee would call the bill for action by the House, but several days of hearings were in prospect. Once the bill reaches the House floor, it will face stiff GOP opposition.

Among other things, the Senate bill would establish a job corps to help unemployed youths obtain new skills and work experience, finance most of the cost of community programs in such fields as health, welfare and vocational rehabilitation, set up a new Volunteers for America Corps to help operate various projects, provide loans and grants to low-income rural families, and assist migrant farm families.

Goldwater criticized the bill Tuesday as "an attempt to reap political rewards from the American people's natural and humane desire to improve the lot of our less fortunate citizens."

He was joined by Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., in filing a minority report on the bill, which was approved by the Senate Labor Committee on July 7 by a 13-2 vote.

Goldwater and Tower termed the measure "a hodgepodge of programs treating only the results, not the causes of poverty." And they said that "whatever its professed purposes, it seems designed to achieve the single objective of securing votes."

In contrast, the majority report said the bill marks "a commitment by the Congress and the nation to dedicate themselves to the elimination of deprivation and dependency in this land."

"The war on poverty is not an effort simply to support people, to make them dependent upon the generosity of others," the report said. "It is designed to give them a chance to help themselves."

The majority report was filed by Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., chairman of a subcommittee that conducted hearings on the bill.

The floor fight over the measure promised to provide a test of Goldwater's influence with his colleagues in his new role as the Republican presidential candidate.

Although the Senate Labor Committee approved the anti-poverty bill by a 13-2 vote, three republican members—Sens. Jacob K. Javits, N.Y., Winston L. Prouty, Vt., and Len B. Jordan, Idaho—reserved the right to support floor amendments.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Power Commission has ordered a hearing in Shawano, Wis., Aug. 18 on an application by Graham, Wis., for a license for a hydroelectric power project. # Yankees Take AL Lead as Orioles, Chisox Each Lose 2

Boston Downs Detroit, 7 to 5;
Athletics Nip Minnesota, 5 to 4

BY DICK COUCH
The New York Yankees have a couple of new helpers—a catcher who lost his job and a guy who hasn't had one for 10 days.

The Yankees trimmed Washington 7-1 Tuesday night—and wound up on top of the American League when John Romano powered Cleveland to a 4-3, 8-5 doubleheader sweep over Baltimore and Vic Power came through with the big hit in the Los Angeles Angels' 2-0, 3-2 sweep over the Chicago White Sox.

When Romano—the catcher without a mask—and Power—the returning vacationer—had completed their night's work New York was in first place and the Orioles and White Sox were temporarily at least in left field.

8-Run Uprising
That's where Romano was until his third homer of the evening triggered an eight-run Indian uprising in the eighth inning of the Cleveland-Baltimore nightcap.

The big inning sent the Orioles reeling into second place, five percentage points behind New York.

Power was back at first base in the White Sox-Angels second game after an enforced 10-day layoff—the result of a run in with umpire Jim Honochuck in Los Angeles.

He came up in the seventh inning with two outs and cracked a bases-loaded single off Gary Peters that brought the Angels from behind and pushed the Sox into third place, one half game off the pace.

Boston defeated Detroit 7-5 on Dick Stuart's three-run homer and Kansas City ripped Minnesota 5-4 on Rocky Colavito's two-run double in other AL games.

Tom Tresh homered twice and doubled for the Yankees and Jim Bouton won his ninth game in 17 decisions with a four-hit ter.

Tresh hit a solo homer, his 11th, in the second inning and connected again in the fourth with a man on John Blanchard singled in two runs in the sixth and two more scored when Bouton's eighth inning fly ball fell for a double.

Little League Teams to Play In Tourney

Two squads from the Appleton Little League will enter preliminary competition for the Little League World Series, Thursday at Bayer Field, Menasha.

Appleton McKinley will play Menasha South at 3:30 p.m. and Appleton Roosevelt will face Menasha North at 6 p.m. The district finals will be held July 31 at Antigo.

The Little World Series finals will be held Aug. 25 to 29 in Williamsport, Pa.

Chuck Hinton's sixth inning homer spoiled Bouton's shutout bid.

Romano caught the first game and drove in three runs with a pair of homers—his first in 14 games—and a double. He went to the outfield in the nightcap and Joe Azcue took over behind the plate as the Indians stacked their batting order with right-hand hitters against Baltimore southpaw Steve Barber.

Barber had a three-hit shutout until the eighth, when Romano led off with his 14th homer.

Before the inning was over Woodie Held had hit a three-run homer and Romano had driven in another run with a single.

John Powell had three hits in each game for the Orioles, including a first-game homer, his 26th.

7-Hit Shutout

The Angels' Bo Belinsky and reliever Bob Lee combined for a seven-hit shutout in the opener against Chicago. Felix Torres homered in the fourth inning and singled in the sixth, driving in both Los Angeles runs.

Jim Fregosi's first inning homer in the nightcap gave the Angels a 1-0 lead but the White Sox came up with two runs on five hits in the bottom of the first.

Relievers Aubrey Gatewood and Bob Duliba blanked the Sox the rest of the way and Power's hit, following a pair of walks and a single by pinch hitter Bob Rodgers, provided the victory margin.

Stuart's 24th homer snapped a 4-4 tie and upped his league-leading RBI total to 84. Bill Monbouquette weathered two home runs each by Norm Cash and George Thomas for his third straight victory.

Colavito's seventh inning double brought Kansas City from a 4-3 deficit and helped hand the Twins their sixth straight setback. He also singled in a run as the Athletics pounded Camilo Pascual, who has lost six of his last seven decisions.

Winners Get 18 Hits Against Winneconne Legion

OSHKOSH—Oshkosh connected for 18 hits, good for 22 runs to submerge Winneconne 22-4 in the opening round of Region 3 of the state American Legion baseball tournament Tuesday night.

Oshkosh will square off against Neenah Thursday night in the quarter finals. Neenah defeated Menasha, 10-5.

Bill Gogolewski collected four of the winners' safeties, banging out three singles and a double—the extra-base blow coming in Oshkosh's seven-run sixth inning.

Bruce Erickson added a triple in the sixth and Tom Ambrosio hit a double.

Lynn Peterson started for Oshkosh, but was relieved in the second frame by Larry Koplitz, who pitched enough to get the win. Hal Mainory hurled four innings in relief of Koplitz, yielding two runs in his first pitching appearance of the season.

The Braves narrowed the gap with two runs on as many hits in the seventh. Aaron extended his hitting streak to seven games with a single. After Joe Torre struck out, Ed Bailey's grounder was fumbled by first baseman Danny Gater. Aaron reaching third. A wild pitch

The Giants scored in the sixth when Hal Lanier tripled and came home on a wild pitch by Buhl, but Elston cut off their last threat, getting Jim Davenport and Chuck Hiller on soft flies with the bases loaded in the ninth.

The Mets made it four straight victories over the Reds when Tom Seaver pitched a bases-

House Approves 'Offensive' Mail Delivery Curb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has given overwhelming approval to a bill that would let homeowners block "morally offensive" mail. Opponents said the legislation invades the right of free speech.

Passage came Tuesday on a 325-19 roll call vote. The bill now goes to the Senate.

A person who received mail he considered morally offensive could notify the postmaster general he wants future mailings from that source stopped. The sender would have 30 days to comply with the postmaster general's order.

If the mailings continued, the sender would be subject to contempt of court action.

The bill's chief sponsor, Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., said "millions of parents are disturbed at having this trash dumped in their mailboxes."

Leading the fight against it Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., said the bill was a clear invasion of the right of free speech and that it was the most dangerous legislation to come before the House in years.

Cuban Exiles, Police Clash In Washington

OAS Ministers Debating Over Action on Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Urged on by a march of Cuban exiles, some of whom rioted briefly Tuesday, foreign ministers of Western Hemisphere nations considered today what steps to take against Cuban aggression.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, pushing the United States request for action, was among the day's scheduled speakers.

Nearly 50 Injured

More than 400 metropolitan and park policemen, some on horseback and motorcycles, helped quell the disturbance which broke out when some of the marchers insisted on leaving the parade route to head to the Pan American Union building where the foreign ministers are meeting.

To Cubans and a park policeman received hospital treatment. About 45 other Cubans were treated for cuts, bruises, exhaustion and heat prostration.

Three men and one woman, arrested on disorderly conduct charges, were released after posting collateral.

In Miami, organizers of the march charged that "Castro people left here Monday morning and were responsible for the trouble."

"We were tipped before the people left here Monday morning that Communists were out to start trouble," said John Marti, an organization leader in Miami.

Car Windows Smashed
Rogers said the mob, which he believed was composed mainly of Chinese, smashed the car's windows and headlights with clubs and bottles. The Malay driver was cut by flying glass.

Nearly 100 riot police armed with clubs and tear gas guns were flown from Kuala Lumpur today to join 5,000 police and two battalions of troops in the effort to keep the violence from spreading up the Malay Peninsula.

WARSAW (AP)—"Clean our weapons, always keep our vigilance and stay on full alert," Soviet Premier Khrushchev told the Communist bloc Tuesday night after attacking Sen. Barry Goldwater and the Republican platform.

Khrushchev spoke at a celebration of Poland's 20th anniversary as a Communist nation after the U.S. and British ambassadors walked out in protest against attacks on U.S. policy by Polish Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Assailing the Republican platform as warlike, Khrushchev said it was adopted in San Francisco "in an atmosphere reminiscent of the fascist (Nazi) gatherings in Nuremberg."

"The candidate put forward for the presidency," Khrushchev continued without calling Goldwater by name, "made it clear that he wants to enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled anti-communism and war threats."

"The Soviet Union has already existed for 47 years. During this period we have seen various mad and half-mad men. We have never been afraid nor are we afraid of threats. We cannot be indifferent, however, toward threats."

Gomulka's Attack
Gomulka also attacked Goldwater. He said it was doubtful the Republican candidate would be elected, "but the very fact that a man of his caliber has been nominated illustrates by itself the danger threatening peace in the world on the part of aggressive imperialist circles in the United States and their West German allies, who demand nuclear weapons."

U.S. Ambassador John Moore Cabot walked out after Gomulka declared that the United States and West Germany have "a common platform of militant anti-communism and of pushing the world to the brink of war."

British Envoy Leaves
British Ambassador Sir George Lisle Clutton, the dean of the Warsaw diplomatic corps, left after Gomulka finished.

British sources said he considered the speech rough and distasteful.

With Romania apparently in Poland possibly in mind, Khrushchev warned against Western efforts to woo Communist governments into independent policies.

Western countries he said, "by means such as promoting nationalism, using economic contacts for political aims attempt to pit one Socialist country against the other. All this is intended to undermine our unity, to divide our countries."

Burmese Reds to Form Alliance
RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma's feuding Communist rebel factions have agreed to form an alliance in the face of heavy mauling by government troops, reports, reaching Rangoon said today.

Elements of the Karen rebels, one of the five major insurrectionist groups in Burma, already have aligned themselves with the Communists.

Press reports said the Red Flag, or Trotskyite Communists, and the White Flag, or Peking-leaning Communists, made a deal that would unite their combined guerrilla following of 3,000.

Government troops continued to press major operations against rebel strong points. Twice in the past two months the government has reported 100 or more guerrillas killed in a single week.

Acting Mayor Says Reds Had Part in Rioting

Suggests Probe of Financing of Some Street Outbreaks

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI is probing possible Communist influence in the city's racial violence which continued throughout the night on Brooklyn's Negro section and resulted in the critical wounding of two Negroes by police.

Acting Mayor Paul R. Serrano said the Harlem disorders had been incited in part by "fringe groups including the Communist party."

He suggested that the FBI agents might investigate the source of money for some street rallies and for some of the "very inflammatory, anti-American and seditious statements."

The FBI began investigating on orders from President Johnson.

Harlem Quiet
Harlem, where rioting started Saturday night following protest rallies over the fatal shooting Thursday of a Negro boy by an off-duty police officer, was relatively quiet Tuesday night.

In Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section police fired at looters. Dozens of store windows were broken.

About two dozen persons were arrested.

S. Vietnamese Planes Drop Sabotage Teams In Communist North

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese air force planes are dropping sabotage teams over Communist North Viet Nam and are training to extend their combat operations, the air force commander said today.

Air Commodore Nguyen Cao Ky told reporters at Bien Hoa airfield that Soviet-made jets were attempting interception of the flights. He reported the North Vietnamese "have radar and very good anti-aircraft."

Ky said he has personally piloted a plane over North Viet Nam and that the raids continue.

"We keep very low and they can't hit us," he said.

The remarks were the first of a statement that military operations are being conducted area today and discovered the by the Saigon government directly against North Viet Nam.

Action Called Expedient After GOP Convention but Also Praised as Necessary

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's injection of the federal government into the race rioting problem in Harlem was questioned, applauded and criticized today by members of Congress.

"Politically expedient," commented Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., when informed that the president had ordered the FBI to investigate the New York disorders.

But another Republican, Senate minority leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, noted the President's duty to enforce the law and said "I am glad the President took action without further delay."

Rhodes, a strong pre-convention backer of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination, noted that Goldwater in his acceptance speech last week had emphasized the role of government in protecting life and property.

"The President obviously thought it was politically expedient to take action after so long a time, now that Sen. Goldwater has called it to his attention," Rhodes added.

Strong Provocation
Another Goldwater supporter, Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, said "it looks to me like the President is trying to steal Barry's thunder."

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said "the provocation for action by the President is very strong," and added that the FBI entry into the picture "may have a deterrent effect."

Goldwater was not available for comment.

In ordering an FBI investigation to determine whether any federal laws have been violated, Johnson noted that law enforcement is basically a state and local responsibility.

He pledged, however, that "New York officials shall have all the help that we can give."

Buoy Mistaken for Submerged Vessel
HALIFAX, N.S. (AP)—A half-submerged sailing vessel sighted 500 miles southeast of Cape Race, Nfld., turned out today to be a marker buoy.

A Canadian Royal Air Force patrol plane reported sighting the submerged vessel Tuesday.

The U.S. Coast Guard weather ship Delta and a Panamanian freighter were diverted to the site.

New Orleans Police Catch Crooks By Posing as Laundry Shop 'Fences'

BY BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The police gave a party Tuesday night and a crowd of crooks was taken to the cleaners.

The party-goers included a number of persons wanted on charges of shoplifting, narcotics sales and burglaries.

The party—it was actually catered with food and refreshments costing $104—capped a three-month undercover investigation.

The hosts were detectives Robert N. Frey and George J. Hughes, who three months ago opened a laundry shop just four blocks off busy Canal Street in the heart of the city's commercial district.

Informers passed word to the underworld that Frey, posing as Harry Long, the laundry operator, was a fence—criminal jargon for a man who buys stolen goods.

Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarrusso said Frey and Hughes actually bought $47,000 in stolen property at a cost of $11,000 from 53 persons, including several real fences.

Giarrusso, Mayor Victor Schiro, Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Frank Klein and newsmen gathered at police headquarters Tuesday night to listen over the police radio to the party.

It started at 8 p.m. Frey met his first guest at the door and ushered him to a back room. Other officers handcuffed the guest, who stood staring unhappily at the refreshments as a phonograph blared.

Sixteen of Frey's customers showed up. Another 14 unwitting guests came along and police said many were wanted in connection with other cases.

Then Giarrusso ordered sweeping raids on the homes of 10 known fences, where a number of other persons were arrested and a large amount of stolen property was recovered.

By early today, a total of 32 arrests had been made.

"We didn't do too good in the laundry business," said Deputy Chief Alfred Theriot. "We lost about $900 the first month."

Frey said his laundry business was good at the start but "it dropped off after people saw all the characters coming here."

What's funny, though, nobody made a complaint to the police about it.

Frey said some of his customers brazenly brought large stolen articles such as lawn mowers, stereo sets and televisions to him in broad daylight.

Using a two-way mirror, police technicians filmed each of Frey's transactions and recorded the conversations on tape. About 26,000 feet of film—nearly five miles—was used.

Wallace and Goldwater

The decision of Alabama Governor Wallace to abandon an independent presidential effort is favorable to Barry Goldwater not because Wallace will now be of great help to the Republican candidate but because he might have done him considerable harm if he had run on a state's rights platform.

A Wallace candidacy would have muddled the clear-cut issue which Goldwater apparently intends to present to the voters in the forthcoming campaign. And from the point of view that it will be advantageous to have the issue of conservative versus liberal presented to the voters it is well that Wallace decided to stay out.

Here in the state of Wisconsin for instance a Wallace candidacy would have injected a confusing note into the picture. Wallace was invited to participate in the Wisconsin presidential primary by right-wing elements who are presumably satisfied now with the Republican Party with Goldwater as its candidate. They would have had a difficult decision about where their allegiance lay had Wallace entered the presidential race in the state.

A Wallace candidacy would have been a considerable obstacle to Goldwater's carrying several southern states in the November battle with President Johnson. And the Goldwater strategy is being constructed around the hope that he can attract considerable support in the South as well as in the Western section of the country.

A most interesting development to watch as the campaign progresses is how Goldwater will handle the near-fanatical segments of the electorate who have jumped on his bandwagon. His vice-presidential candidate, Rep. Miller, has indicated that he would like to see some overtures to the party's moderates and liberals in the Northern industrial states which would bring them around to active support of the ticket. Miller said he favors a summit meeting of Republican leaders of all shades of opinion to canvass prospects for the campaign and to advise on strategy. Goldwater himself said in June before the convention that he intended to call such a session but he hasn't mentioned it since his nomination.

Miller was asked whether he and Goldwater would welcome Wallace's support. He replied, "I don't think so, he's a Democrat."

The chances are that Wallace will not plunk for either candidate, and this is probably all right with both of them. But a high-ranking Wallace aide has said he will organize a "Democrats for Goldwater" campaign in the South.

Goldwater's chief problem in the campaign will be to fashion an image that will satisfy all the diverse elements of his present support and still attract votes from not only moderate and liberal Republicans but independents too. If he can do this successfully it will be a magical political performance.

Something to Crow About

When Dr. Erich Baeumer was a small boy on a farm in Germany some fifty years ago, he played in the family hen house because his mother thought it was safer than roaming the fields or roads. Young Baeumer discovered that he could communicate with the chickens although he says that when his voice changed with adolescence he lost the ability to make such contacts. But he continued the study of a "chicken language" as a hobby through the use of tapes and other technical equipment. The results are published in a small book.

Chickens do indeed have a form of language, writes Baeumer. They have at least thirty distinct words which depend both upon vowel sounds and tones. But the doctor also points out that the ability is not acquired; it comes by instinct and chickens the world around speak the same language whether they are in a hen house in the Ozarks or Japan. In fact, Baeumer writes that they begin to make and understand certain sounds even before they leave the egg.

When the about-to-be-born chick starts to peck at the egg shell to get out, it also emits small high pitched sounds. The mother hen replies in three ways; there is a "gluck-gluck" to establish contact, a "tucket-tucket" to encourage the chick to keep working at the shell, and a soothing "orrr-orrr" to calm down a nervous offspring. However, chicks who hatch in an incubator without benefit of maternal advice do not seem to suffer any ill effects.

Baeumer reports that chickens show whether they are hungry, tired, annoyed or angry by their various sounds. And those raised in isolation without contact with other chickens (or conversation with small boys) develop the same language ability.

Experiments have shown that cows wooed with music often give more and better milk. Perhaps there is a new job opportunity for young children in speaking to chickens and encouraging them to lay more eggs.

The Right to Vote in the U.N.

Next November when the General Assembly of the United Nations convenes, it must determine whether several nations who are more than two years in arrears in assessments may retain their vote. The U.N. Charter states that such nations "shall have no vote." However, Article 19 would provide that the Assembly may waive enforcement "if it is satisfied that the failure to pay is due to conditions beyond the control of the member."

A group of Latin American nations want to divide those who have fallen behind into two groups; those who are unable to pay and who in effect would take a sort of pauper's oath, and those who simply refuse to pay.

The Soviet Union is the major culprit in the latter category. By next fall it will owe almost $37 million for the Congo force, $15½ million for the Middle East force and $2 million for other U.N. activities that Russia claims are illegal. The International Court of Justice has ruled that such special assessments are obligatory and Russia would have to put up about $8½ million in order to maintain its voting privileges in the General Assembly.

France is also in arrears about $16 million for the Congo operation which it considered illegal or at least contrary to French interests. However, now that the U.N. has withdrawn the Congo force, it expects that France will pay up enough to qualify as a voting member.

There is a big difference between the underdeveloped countries which have trouble making their assessments and those which simply refuse to pay because U.N. operations conflict with their national interests. A lot more members pay only enough to avoid the two year debit but they still owe the U.N. a lot of money.

But it is also obvious that many of the poor nations are in desperate financial straits because of unrealistic and impractical economic policies. Many refuse to tax their wealthy or at least never collect the taxes. They have government-sponsored give-away programs aimed at garnering popularity and votes for the regime rather than encouraging long range economic health. They use available foreign aid for pie-in-the-sky programs unless curbed by the donor. While poverty in many Latin American, African and Asian countries is very real and very serious, the governments are often more interested in images of power and prestige than stable economic policies. To some extent then, their inability to pay their U.N. assessments is their own fault. Excusing their results in the more stable nations footing the bill for the irresponsibility and financial immaturity of the others.

If the General Assembly is to determine who is poor enough to escape losing its vote through debt, it should also determine whether the poverty is real or the result of such policies. But this would not be easy for an organization with so many new nations who are so ill-acquainted with the realities of economic health.

Appleton Men in Thick of Fight

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Aug. 6, 1904.

Near Petersburg, Va., July 22, 1864. — The citizens of the "Puritan City" will have the pleasure of seeing a few of Appleton's braves defend their country's honor. The citizens cannot bestow too many acts of kindness upon them. Better soldiers than L. White, George White, Patton, Dillon, Elliott, Sanburn and Hawley Van de Bogart, Appleton has not produced. That, you will readily acknowledge, is saying a vast deal in their praise. God bless each patriot heart and may their civil career reflect as much credit upon them as their military.

Crack, whiz and boom, is the order of the day and night here in front of the 9th and 18th Corps. At times the musket firing breaks out so fiercely one thinks if the devil isn't to pay, he soon will be.

With the 2nd, 5th and 6th Corps we have only a little splatter of shelling and mortar practice — none of the murderous picket firing what-ever.

You ask why the difference among corps?

As you are aware, Burnside and Martindale have each a number of colored regiments. The Johnnies don't fancy having their former property armed and fighting them, and whenever a woolly pate makes itself visible, the unerring aim of half a dozen rebel sharpshooters tell heavily on the poor darkey.

All of the troops have to suffer in consequence of the blacks. Comments are unnecessary.

Taxpayer Objects to Request For Closing of Durkee Street

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Why should Durkee Street be closed from Wisconsin Avenue to Summer Street? Just so the school can be connected to its gym and youth center? Is it such an effort for youngsters to walk across a street to enter a building? When Durkee Street is vacated then what? Will Summer Street be barricaded during school hours so the children have a place to play? Who will be next to have a street vacated so they can build out in the road, even though they have property to build out?

The excuse is that a thousand cars do not use Durkee

Street in a day's time. Are there a thousand cars that travel Morrison Street, Pershing Street, Bell Avenue or a number of other streets in Appleton?

In a radius of about three blocks of the proposed vacating there are 17 taxpayers and 12 signed against the closing. They still must go to a public hearing to argue about it, even though they paid taxes for years.

This is the only street going north that leads directly into Erb Park. There are a lot of children who use this street when they go swimming or to a hobby shop on the avenue.

There are also quite a few going to Roosevelt Junior High who use the street. There are quite a few elderly people and some not so elderly who do not drive and use the street for quite a few things. There is grocery shopping, bakery, druggist, dentist and eye doctor. Also a chance to catch the bus at Wisconsin Avenue and Durkee Street to go to town to pay bills. They can all go out of their way for that because the young generation can't exert themselves to walk across a street to open a door to enter a gymnasium. Does it make sense to you?

Advertising of any sort must pay its way; and proof of the success of direct mail as another powerful medium of communications is the nationwide acceptance and growth of that industry just this past decade. A collateral benefit shared by us all is the forced modernization, though late, of the Post Office Department as it adjusts to the distribution requirements of the mail marketing technique.

Of course direct mail, as a newspaper or magazine or television network, can have an occasional bad day. When such a day does dawn, into the wastebasket goes the offensive mail piece. Not much different, we think, than clicking the switch on the boob tube or wrapping the garbage in syndicated, daily devotions to teenage sex. (And hey, sport, do you suppose the post office would let those newspaper movie ads go through the mails? Of course not. Some kid might see them.)

Facilities for Higher Education in State Must Be Doubled in 10 Years

BY ROBERT TAYLOR

MADISON—A spirit of realism, an air of excitement, pervade higher education in Wisconsin today as it moves into a new era.

Twenty years ago about half of the youngsters in Wisconsin graduated from high school.

Today half of the Wisconsin high school graduates go on to higher education, technical or collegiate.

Ten years ago at the University of Wisconsin, research expenditures were only about half those for instruction. Today, with the state and federal governments, as well as private industry, recognizing how scientific investigation contributes to the economy, to health, and to national security, research and instruction budgets at the university are about equal, with major sums of money coming into the state from outside sources to support research.

Growth of enrollments and research in its institutions of higher education are such that the state of Wisconsin now has the task of doing in 10 years what it did in the past 100 years. It must double its present system.

To the Wisconsin citizens who have been on the university and the state college Boards of Regents and on the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, these facts have long been known. And while in the past they have had some difficulty in arousing the interest of their fellow citizens in the task, they now find themselves the center of state attention, as fathers and mothers of youngsters on their way toward college, and taxpayers becoming aware of the cost of it all, seek assurances that the doors of higher education will remain open to all qualified.

PUBLIC CONCERN

This new public concern for higher education undoubtedly is one of the reasons Wisconsin people are looking more closely at the organization of public higher education, why some are suggesting that changes might be in order.

But whether the structure is changed, or the present system remains, those responsible for guiding the development of Wisconsin higher education into the new era will have a wealth of solid background on which to base their work.

Four years ago, the Coordinating Committee was able to publish the principles of the master plan; since then the implementation has been outlined, step by step.

Most recently, for example, these things were decided:

That four-year universities be established in the Fox Valley area by 1969 and in the Racine-Kenosha area in the 1971 biennium.

That new two-year University of Wisconsin Centers in Rock and Waubesa counties, and a two-year State University Branch in Rice Lake be opened in the 1965-67 biennium.

That liberal arts programs be maintained and strengthened at institutions where they now are offered and extended throughout the state as equally as possible.

That no arbitrary limitations on growth be placed on the state institutions of higher education, but that provisions for orderly growth including deceleration of the rate in some locations — be instituted and maintained.

That the Wisconsin State Universities work on property acquisition where needed for expansion, and that program and dormitory expansion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee be encouraged.

That fees at University Centers and projected State University Branches be established that would encourage greater attendance at those institutions.

That state aids for construction, equipment purchase, and state-oriented programs of the Vocational and Adult Schools be increased to encourage rapid development of expanded and improved programs.

That further study be given to the possibility of a junior college system for the state.

1965 DECISION

To make a good start on the brick and mortar aspects of some of those steps, the Coordinating Committee adopted a $109 million building program for the 1965-67 biennium.

University and State College Regents now are developing the operating budget requests for those years. When these are coordinated and adopted, the question of whether the state of Wisconsin can afford to continue its hundred-year tradition of high quality educational opportunity for all its qualified sons and daughters will be up to elected state officials.

The future of higher education in the state, and in some respects the future of the state itself, will be decided by the governor and the legislature in 1965.

Here's How Exception Dose Prove the Rule

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

If the class will come to attention, we'll do a little word-work today, based on a letter I have received, which is one of quite a few asking the same question.

A reader writes: "As a teacher, the cliché 'The exception proves the rule' has always plagued me. Has this been taken out of context or is it really true? A rule is a rule — how then can an exception prove it? If you can answer this perplexing question, it will solve a tremendous problem for me, as my students continually ask me why I use the phrase when I cannot give the answer."

The saying comes from an old Roman phrase: "Exceptio probat regulam." The verb "probare," means to make a trial of, to test. In the early days of English, the word "prove" meant "test," as when St. Paul advised the Thessalonians to "prove all things and hold fast to that which is good." He meant, of course, to test all things.

The old meaning of "proof" has come down to us in the printer's "proof-sheet"—which is not a demonstration of a page's correctness, but a trial of it. We test the proof-sheet against the original copy.

The phrase, "The exception proves the rule," then, means that the exception tests the rule. And how does it test it? It does not mean that any exception proves the correctness of any rule in general; it does mean, however, that if we recognize one thing as an exception, then we implicitly recognize some rule to which it is an exception.

For instance, Sam Johnson thought that the evidence for the migration of woodcocks in summer was as good as could be desired. A friend observed that, however, some woodcocks had been found in Essex in summer, to which Johnson replied, "Sir, that strengthens our argument. Exception probat regulam. Some being found shows that, if all remained, many would be found."

Actually, the exception illustrates the rule, but it does not demonstrate it. It can strengthen a rule, but never prove it; nor was it ever offered as proof. What happened was simply that the word "prove" changed its meaning over the centuries and so turned the old saying into a nearly senseless one.

Speaking of St. Paul, something even worse has happened to his advice about "faith, hope and charity." In King James' day, "charity" came from the Latin "caritas," and meant loving-kindness. Today it means something much narrower, and the whole force of the phrase has lost its traditional meaning.

Clintonville School Tax Rate Expected to Go Up Less Than $1 for 1964-65

$878,500 Budget to be Presented For Electors' Approval Monday

CLINTONVILLE — A slight increase in the tax rate is included in the $878,500 budget proposed for Clintonville Joint School District No. 1.

What the actual increase over last year's rate of $14.37 per $1,000 will be depends on assessed valuation figures which were not available when the budget was adopted at a special meeting of the board Tuesday.

According to available information, the increase is expected to be less than $1 per $1,000.

The budget, $84,621 higher than last year, will be presented at a hearing at 7 p.m. Monday in the senior high school building.

878,500 Expenses
Along with anticipated expenses of $878,500, a balance of $148,433 is being requested for a total of $1,026,933. Last year, the actual total expenditures were $823,279 with a balance of $133,433.

The balance will be used to take care of payrolls and other expenses from the end of the fiscal year June 30 until tax levies come in.

Increases in the budget have been attributed to raises in teachers' salaries, the addition of one teacher, planned purchase of a new bus and cost of installing a new roof on the junior high school.

Anticipated Receipts
Total anticipated receipts are $883,500. Combined with the balance on July 1 of $133,433, this puts the total funds available to the district at $1,016,933.

Proposed expenses with last year's actual figures in parentheses for comparison are:

General control, $22,505 ($20,921); instruction, $508,573 ($535,948); operation, $66,290 ($62,357); maintenance, $26,799 ($21,235); auxiliary agencies, $43,231 ($43,349); other disbursements for current operation, $11,425 ($8,600).

Transportation, $51,425 ($46,491); community services, $1,496 ($9,948); debt service, $49,500 ($49,183); and capital outlay, $29,605 ($25,563).

Anticipated receipts — also with comparative figures — include:

State aid, $197,026 ($179,876); federal aid, $21,613 ($21,251); county aid, $15,050 ($13,650); local taxes (including utility tax, levy and tax on hunting grounds), $625,603 ($563,272); and miscellaneous receipts, $34,523 ($34,208).

The board, at its special meeting, also adopted a non-teaching personnel salary schedule with the addition of a Labor Grade 10 and voted that salaries which are lower than the schedule be adjusted with the rate schedule over a 2-year period and be retroactive to Jan. 1.

CAP Cadets to Aid Optimists During Rodeo at Seymour
Civil Air Patrol cadets of the Fox Cities Composite Squadron will assist the Appleton Noon Optimist Club with parking and posed of the senior boys, the program sales at the Optimists' rodeo in Seymour July 31-Aug. 1.

Cadets and senior members of the squadron will encamp at the Seymour fairgrounds for the three days of the fair to give rodeo-goers opportunity to learn about CAP activities and cadets practice at running an encampment.

Communication equipment, displays and other air patrol equipment will be demonstrated.

The rodeo is being conducted by the Optimists to raise funds for local, state and national youth programs. The CAP program will get a percentage of the parking fees and program sales.

Janice Schnorr and Robert McMahon are the directors.

Manawa Lions to Sell Anniversary Calendars

The calendar will list birthday and anniversary dates and also meeting dates of other organizations.

Calendar proceeds will be used by the Lions club for their fund-raising projects.

'Beer Card' Changes Due, But Fake IDs May Survive

Proposed Identification Would be Tin-Type With Engraved Picture

BY RAY PY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Changes are due for the "beer card," but it is seriously doubted if the changes will halt increasing traffic in faked, altered or forged cards among the state's teen-agers.

Presently being drafted for legislators is a bill which will change the cardboard and plastic-laminated card to a tin-type card bearing a zinc-engraved photograph.

Dominic Peeters, deputy Outagamie County register of deeds, said today that he expected as much trouble from the tin-types as there has been with the cardboard cards.

Outagamie County sheriff authorities are currently investigating rumors that a large scale identification card "racket" is being operated among county teen-agers. It is believed that altered cards are being sought for $5 and that under-18-year-old teen-agers can receive laminated cards with their own pictures for a $10 bid.

Cards Purchased
Sheriff Lt. Joseph Vandenoever said the cards are purchased from persons over 21, altered and resold. Vandenoever conservatively estimated that 50 or 60 persons were in possession of such cards.

Peeters said a committee of county registers of deeds recently reported that it is recommending the tin-type identification cards to replace the cardboard cards. Main advantage of the tin card is the engraved photograph of the bearer, which cannot be removed. Price of the tin-type is expected to be $4 as compared to $1 for the cardboard type.

Peeters said that while the committee was recommending the tin-type, the committee also warned that the tin-type could be "manufactured" illegally by persons adept at tin work and engraving.

Peeters said the major breakdown in the identification card program has been in the lack of beer bar owners to closely examine cards being presented by customers. Studies conducted by various state committees have shown that teen-agers are getting by with presentation of faked cards bearing photographs of noted personalities such as past presidents and movie stars, and with cards bearing such names as "Santa Claus."

Northern Bar Study
A study conducted at a northern area teen-age bar produced 18 customers who possessed cards which were not their own, Peeters said.

Outagamie County's program of asking parents to be present when the identification cards are purchased in the courthouse has worked out satisfactorily, Peeters said. He said the parents are made aware of the fact that the youth has a card. The program has deterred youths from coming to the courthouse with artificial records or identifications to receive cards, Peeters said.

Sheriff authorities indicated that alterations on cards are detected easily, but beer hall workers seldom have the time to examine each card individually. Cards generally are checked as the patron enters the establishment and are seldom checked afterwards. Peeters indicated that this practice allows one person to enter, then go outside and pass his card off to a second person. The patron is then seldom rechecked for his or her identification card upon re-entering.

The program has deterred youths from coming to the courthouse with artificial records or identifications to receive cards, Peeters said.

Sheriff authorities indicated that alterations on cards are detected easily, but beer hall workers seldom have the time to examine each card individually. Cards generally are checked as the patron enters the establishment and are seldom checked afterwards. Peeters indicated that this practice allows one person to enter, then go outside and pass his card off to a second person. The patron is then seldom rechecked for his or her identification card upon re-entering.

Peeters said the major breakdown in the identification card program has been in the lack of beer bar owners to closely examine cards being presented by customers. Studies conducted by various state committees have shown that teen-agers are getting by with presentation of faked cards bearing photographs of noted personalities such as past presidents and movie stars, and with cards bearing such names as "Santa Claus."

Cards Purchased
Sheriff Lt. Joseph Vandenoever said the cards are purchased from persons over 21, altered and resold. Vandenoever conservatively estimated that 50 or 60 persons were in possession of such cards.

Peeters said a committee of county registers of deeds recently reported that it is recommending the tin-type identification cards to replace the cardboard cards. Main advantage of the tin card is the engraved photograph of the bearer, which cannot be removed. Price of the tin-type is expected to be $4 as compared to $1 for the cardboard type.

Peeters said that while the committee was recommending the tin-type, the committee also warned that the tin-type could be "manufactured" illegally by persons adept at tin work and engraving.

Studies conducted by various state committees have shown that teen-agers are getting by with presentation of faked cards bearing photographs of noted personalities such as past presidents and movie stars, and with cards bearing such names as "Santa Claus."

Northern Bar Study
A study conducted at a northern area teen-age bar produced 18 customers who possessed cards which were not their own, Peeters said.

Outagamie County's program of asking parents to be present when the identification cards are purchased in the courthouse has worked out satisfactorily, Peeters said. He said the parents are made aware of the fact that the youth has a card. # Phone Firms Plan To Extend Service

Proposals Outlined at New London

NEW LONDON — Testimony overwhelmingly in favor of a petition by the Wisconsin and Urban telephone companies to extend toll-free service was presented at a Public Service Commission (PSC) hearing here Tuesday.

A PSC examiner will review the arguments before ruling on the proposed change in service boundaries. An affirmative ruling is expected, however.

Plans by both companies to extend toll-free service gave rise to the petition.

John Walsh, general commercial engineer for Wisconsin Telephone, testified that the New London and Hortonville exchanges were both operated by the firm he represents. When dial operation goes into effect in November, Appleton will become the direct assistance center and toll free service would be offered between New London, Bear Creek and Hortonville.

Extra Cost
Cost of the added service, he said, would amount to 50 cents a month for business phones and five cents a month for residential subscribers.

Walsh said this would bring about a saving to New London subscribers of at least $1,800 annually. The figure, he said, was the difference between the $3,600 paid last year by subscribers in toll fees between the communities and the $1,700 added cost of the extended area service.

The estimated savings, Walsh said, is an unrealistic figure and should be higher. When toll fee service is extended, the call rate always increases sharply, he said.

Fewer Subscribers
Fewer subscribers will be involved in the transfer than originally intended. A revised survey of the area shows that Wisconsin would take 10, not 17 Urban subscribers, as listed in the first petition. The number of Wisconsin subscribers going to Urban is unchanged at five.

The companies went on the record as jointly favoring the exchange of subscribers.

Walsh said Wisconsin had taken over all but one of the 11 small operations that once served the New London area.

He explained maps entered as exhibits to establish the boundary change and to show the current service operation of the two companies.

Increased Coverage
It was pointed out that no calling privileges would be lost to any of the subscribers switched between the companies but all would receive increased area coverage in November when New London goes to dial operation.

Walsh said statements from four of the five Wisconsin customers said they favored the switch to the Urban company.

F. H. Schafer, Urban president, said his company operates seven exchanges with the main office in Clintonville. He continued on Page 3, Col. 8

Menasha May File County Petition For Mapping Study

City to Take First Step on Bridge, X-Way

MENASHA—City council tonight may take action to petition the Winnebago County Board to pay for a preliminary survey for official mapping of a bridge-expressway system in the Menasha area.

The move was recommended by the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, which suggested that Winnebago County and Outagamie County municipalities petition the state for mapping of the proposed system.

Official Maps
Planners hope to officially map the proposed bridge-expressway on official maps in a long-range planning move.

The entire survey is expected to cost approximately $18,000. Of this amount, Calumet County, with 2.37 miles of expressway, would pay $2,800. Outagamie County, with 9.4 miles of the proposed system, would pay $9,500.

State highway engineers currently are studying several thousands of cards distributed in a recent bridge-traffic survey in order to obtain data on location and origin of motorists. Findings will determine where new thoroughfares will be located and actual need for additional facilities.

Chilton Has Works Director Applicant

Man to be Interviewed This Week For Vacant Post of Russell Kalupa

CHILTON—City aldermen and all employes having police power Mayor Harry Thompson will interview an applicant for the vacant post of Director of Public Works this week.

The additional cost of the post of Director of Public Works is $61. Cost of the entire policy is based on total hours worked by city employees, altering the premium at the end of the year.

A letter from the State Board of Health recommended abandonment of city hall well and the post duties include complete sealing of it. Officials visited the streets and buildings, feasibility of reopening it and prompted when it was found the present sewage and water departments were undermined.

Acting Supt. Alfred Baumann was working alone on the project.

Insurance Bid
In other action the council voted to accept an estimated bid of $637 for general liability insurance for all city employees. This policy includes police liability for false arrest, malicious prosecution, libel, slander, defamatory character, invasion being made in the original plans of privacy and wrongful eviction and entry on the part of the changes.

No Age Limit
There is no age requirement for foster parents. Some couples begin to take foster children when their own children have grown up and left home. Others have small children of their own in addition to the foster child.

The welfare department pays the foster parents for the children taken into the home. Reimbursement is based on the individual child's needs. There is payment for clothing, food and medical and dental expenses.

The foster home primarily serves as a temporary living arrangement for children whose own family is not able to function properly.

Improve Conditions
Where it is at all possible the department works with the natural parents in an attempt to keep the child with its own parents. When this is impossible the child is placed in a foster home but the department continues working with the natural parents to improve the conditions so that the child may return.

Miss Woelfel said even this is impossible and therefore the child remains in the foster home for a long period of time.

The director asked that anyone interested in being a foster parent, contact her so interviews and investigations can be arranged.

H. H. Helble Improving From Influenza Attack

WAUPACA—Former Appleton High School principal Herbert H. Helble is reported as improving in Riverside Memorial Hospital here after he was stricken last week by attack of intestinal influenza.

Helble, who retired last month after a long tenure as principal, suffered the attack while he and his wife were staying at their summer home on Long Lake, one of the Waupaca Chain of Lakes.

City Codes in Chilton to be Simplified

CHILTON—The city council Tuesday night accepted a bid of $2,500 for the codification of city ordinances from a Madison firm.

Included in the bid, submitted by the Municipal Ordinance Service Inc., Madison, is a three year updating service.

The council had asked City Attorney William Engler Jr. to investigate firms which offered the simplification service.

Codification of the city's ordinances has never been done and council members voted to simplify the code for easier understanding by them and city residents.

Lawrence Says

Freedom Is Not A Permit for Mob Violence

Racial Conflict
An Opportunity For Irresponsible

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Race rioting and violence in the Harlem section of New York City—the biggest Negro community in the country—have occasioned nationwide dismay and a sense of tragic shame before the world.

For a long time people in the north have been pointing the finger of blame at the citizens of Mississippi and Alabama and there has been many a comment that such disturbances present an unfavorable image abroad. Now, unfortunately, northern states have experienced some serious outbreaks, too.

Coincidentally the crime wave in the United States has been growing to unprecedented proportions, especially among the young people. Racial conflict, of course, affords an opportunity for irresponsible individuals to participate in any form of disorder.

Today's disturbances are, in large part, due to the encouragement given in recent months to "street demonstrations." There are many people who do not understand that while the right of free speech is guaranteed, it does not permit anybody falsely to cry "Fire!" in a crowded theater or to encourage mob violence while professing adherence to the doctrine of non-violence. Even clergymen have been guilty of endorsing what is called "civil disobedience."

Sensible Leaders
The sensible leaders of the Negro organizations today are trying hard to control their members so as to keep down demonstrations that could lead to violence, but unfortunately there now is a race consciousness in the United States on the part of both whites and Negroes. It is the impulsive and impetuous handling of the whole "civil rights" issue that is in part responsible for the tension that exists.

Perhaps the most difficult phase of the whole problem is the situation which confronts the local police. If they do not arrest the demonstrators, lots of innocent persons are injured. But on the other hand, if the police try to use force to deal with those who are threatening violence these same law officers are accused of "brutality."

Within the last few years, an impression has been conveyed that the federal government must intervene to maintain law and order, especially when the states or cities seem reluctant to do so for fear of intensifying local feeling. President Eisenhower sent troops to Arkansas in 1957 presumably to enforce a court order and also to prevent an outbreak of violence. The late President Kennedy mobilized federal troops in Mississippi in 1962 and in Alabama in 1963 because of a fear that violence might break out. Yet in all three cases the state governments had plenty of militia of their own available to take care of the respective situations.

There are plenty of laws and plenty of police—federal, state and local—to maintain order in America. The handicaps to effective enforcement today, however, are many. The federal judiciary under the direction of the Supreme Court of the United States has made it difficult to detect and punish offenders.

President Johnson and Senator Goldwater have both indicated that during the campaign they would like to play down racial issues. But much of the damage has already been done. Passions have been inflamed and there have been charges and countercharges that this or that group is responsible for inciting violence. Irrespective of what may have been said or done in the past, the problem now is how to secure observance of law and maintenance of order in the big cities of the north as well as in the south.

More and more police are going to be necessary and while it may seem ironical even to imply that color lines should be drawn, many cities are discovering that only by the employment of numerous Negro policemen to go on constant duty in Negro sections of the big cities can the riots be controlled and further violence prevented. It is a sad story of racial consciousness that now has broken out in the open despite all the sincere efforts of many persons on both sides to debate the issue on its merits in the hope that reason and volition may be substituted for coercion.

Taxation Base For Waupaca Up 23 Per Cent

City Assessments
Hiked From 48.9 to
72 Per Cent Level

WAUPACA—The city of Waupaca assessment level, now based on 48.9 per cent of full value, will be increased to 72 per cent according to an announcement made at Tuesday night's council meeting by Mayor Lloyd E. Matheson.

The higher assessment level will mean a lower tax rate and will not affect the amount of taxes being paid by property owners of the city, Matheson emphasized.

The change follows a state recommendation that assessment level be near the true value of property. At the present time, Mayor Matheson said, Waupaca's assessment level is much lower than surrounding communities.

Commercial Re-evaluation

Matheson also informed the council that at the Sept. 16 meeting of the board of review, possible re-evaluation of the city's mercantile and manufacturing properties will be discussed. At the present time, he said, some of this type of property is not properly assessed.

It has been recommended that Henry Wiegell, city assessor, be assisted by a former member of the state board of assessments in reassessing mercantile and manufacturing property.

Plans for a 50 by 50 foot storage addition to the present city shops were inspected by the council and a motion made to advertise for construction bids.

Borrowing Unnecessary

It will not be necessary for the city to borrow any money for the addition. The funds for the project are in a budgeted building fund and in a special fund which is a surplus from other projects completed in the past.

A motion also was made approving a transfer of property between the Mobil service station on Fulton Street and the armory. The exchange of property in which the city is giving the service station a strip of land 15 feet, four inches wide by 52 feet for another piece 12 feet, 8 inches by 80 feet will allow better access to the north side of the armory. There will be no exchange of money in the transfer.

Ald. Alver Lindscoog, Fifth Ward, told the council he has accepted the position of director of engineering services at Memorial Hospital, Rockford, Ill., and will resign his council seat as of Sept. 1.

Brillion Firm's Picnic Attracts Record Crowd

BRILLION—About 1,800 employees, members of their families, retired employees and guests attended the 26th annual Brillion Iron Works' Employee Picnic at Horn Park Saturday afternoon.

Activities opened with the traditional softball game between teams made up of plant and office personnel.

Afternoon activities consisted of games and contests for children, free bingo for all age groups, door prizes, a four-act professional stage program, acknowledgment of retired employees and music.

Theresa Mencheski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mencheski, was crowned Picnic Princess by last year's winner, Betty Lukaszewski. Miss Mencheski was chosen the favorite among six candidates by the picnickers. Other contestants were Cheryl Belonge, Gloria Brehmer, Jo Ann Greenblade, Charlotte Kraus and Carol Petermann.

Equipment Display There were displays of foundry and farm equipment products.

The picnics have been annual affairs since 1935 when only the employees took part in the event. Through the years the picnic has grown in proportion in number of guests, activities, food and refreshment consumption. The picnic has never been rained out.

Lawrence To Have 123 Bell Carillon

Electronic Instrument Part of Chapel Remodeling Project

A versatile electronic carillon tones are as rich and deep as 123 bells will be installed in the tower of Lawrence University's Memorial Chapel as a part of a major renovation of both the building and the organ this summer.

The carillon, which is expected to add greatly to the campus atmosphere, will consist of 25 English peal bells, 49 Flemish harmonic bells for hymn playing, and 49 harp bells.

The bells can be played either from the organ keyboard or by an automatic device. The latter will enable the carillon to mark the hours, and will also provide 24 selections on a clock control.

It is expected, however, that the majority of the carillon's operation will be manual. Recitals of bell music will be frequently scheduled and many other public events on the campus will be marked by carillon music as the audience gathers. The bells will be heard both inside the chapel and from the building's tower.

Rich, Deep Tones

The carillon is an electronic instrument which consists of small bronze bells, when struck by metal hammers, produce pure bell tones barely audible to the human ear. The vibrations are picked up electronically, amplified to desired proportions, and reproduced from the tower. According to experts, the final electronic bell

Sound "Clouds"

The stage will be considerably altered to create a concert hall without a proscenium arch. The organ pipes will be exposed across the width and the stage, a series of sound-reflecting "clouds" will be installed above the stage, and acoustical substances placed at various points in the auditorium. A portable shell will be used on the stage whenever an intimate feeling is desired for individual artists and small ensembles.

The public address system and the light scheme will both be substantially improved.

Remodeling in the north basement of the chapel will add four teaching studios, two practice rooms, two artists' rooms and a central lobby to Lawrence's music facilities. The special instruction program for children and adults in this area, under the supervision of Kristin Webb, will be concentrated there.

About $80,000 of the remodeling cost will go into the rebuilding of the Planitz memorial organ, being done by the Schantz Organ Company of Ohio. It will be changed from a French romantic instrument to a thoroughly contemporary recital organ with two new divisions and the expansion of four others.

University of Wisconsin Enrollments to Set Records on Campuses

MADISON—University of Wisconsin enrollments will hit record highs on every one of its campuses next fall with an all campus enrollment of about 41,500. Pres. Fred Harvey Harrington announced Wednesday.

Madison campus enrollment is expected to exceed 26,600, Milwaukee will exceed 11,500, and the nine University Centers are expected to have total enrollments of almost 3,800.

President Harrington cautioned that it is too early to arrive at firm figures since these will not be available until actual head-counts can be made on our various campuses.

He said the total enrollment is expected to be very close to the estimate on which the University's 1964-65 budget was based, but considerably higher than enrollment estimates made for the biennial budget back in 1961.

Kaukauna Could Be Site of University Plan Extended Area Service

Education Group Member Says Minimum 200-Acre Site Needed

KAUKAUNA — The city could school and gaining priority well qualify as the site for the proposed new four-year University of Wisconsin planned for the Fox Valley area, Wesley Stehr, a member of the Northeastern Education Committee said.

The committee considers the area between Kaukauna and De Pere as the logical center location for the university, planned to serve Door, Kewaunee, Manitowish, Brown, Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet counties according to Stehr.

Stehr said if Kaukauna wants the new institute it should have a representative on the education committee. He said the Kenosha-Racine area also are seeking a new four-year university.

A minimum of 200 acres possibly more would be needed for the site, he said. Although Appleton probably would want to be the school's site, Stehr said the city probably would not qualify because it isn't in the center of the seven-county region and already has Lawrence University and is near the Milwaukee-Wisconsin center.

Stehr said the group record should be the site so it can present its case well. He said the legislature would study location carefully before allocating any funds for the institution.

McCormack, Martin Face Election Fights For Congress Seats

BOSTON (AP)—House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., who is 72 and former Speaker Joseph W. Martin, R-Mass., who will be 80 in November, face re-election challenges. Noel A. Day, a Negro civil rights leader, filed Tuesday as an independent candidate for McCormack's seat and said he was challenging the entrenched political power in Congress for its failure to deal creatively with the problems of poverty.

Former State Rep. William F. Nourse of Medfield seeking to wrest the Republican nomination from Martin said the time requires a more energetic course than a 79-year-old political veteran can follow.

McCormack next in line for the presidency is completing his 19th consecutive term. Martin has represented his district for 20 consecutive terms since 1925.

De Gaulle Says U. S. No Longer Controls Destinies of West

Europe Has Own Values and Means, French Leader States

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle asserted today that "things have changed" and the United States no longer directly or indirectly runs the affairs of the Western world.

Speaking to a packed news conference in the presidential palace under the glare of television and newsreel lights, the president sharply declared that the postwar era of U.S. dominance in the West has ended.

"Now Europe," he said, "has emerged as an entity capable of living its own life, because it is full of its own values and means."

The president said a similar development is taking place in the Eastern world, too, in the

Senate Nears Final Vote on Poverty Bill

Supporters Hope To Receive Backing From Southerners

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration leaders drove for Senate passage of President Johnson's $102.5-million anti-poverty bill today after accepting a state's rights amendment they hoped would pick up support from Southern Democrats.

The bill has come under heavy attack from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the Republican presidential nominee. He has called it a backward-looking hodgepodge with "the single objective of securing votes."

Tower Leads Opposition

Goldwater was not on hand when the Senate opened debate on the bill Wednesday. The fight against it was led by Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., who had joined Goldwater earlier in denouncing the measure in a minority report from the Labor Committee.

The extent, if any, to which Goldwater was going to mix in the debate was uncertain. He was to return to the Senate chamber today for the first time since his nomination and his GOP colleagues planned a round of welcoming speeches.

Amendment Approved

Under an agreement reached Wednesday to limit debate on the bill and its amendments, Democratic leaders expressed confidence the measure would be passed and sent to the House late in the day.

One move bolstering their hopes was the approval by voice vote of an amendment by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., to prohibit the establishment of youth camps in any state without the consent of that state's governor.

A major feature of the legislation is authority to establish a job corps to provide education, work experience and vocational training for young people age 16 to 21, in conservation camps and residential centers.

An enrollment of 40,000 is planned for the first year with 100,000 the next.

Police Wound 3 Negroes, Arrest 122 in Brooklyn; Many Windows Shattered

NEW YORK (AP)—Negroes pressed "complete confidence" rioting and looting and police in Murphy a one-time patrol-gundie erupted again during Wednesday night despite a broadcast plea by Mayor Robert F. Wagner for peace and order.

Police shot and wounded three Negroes and arrested 122 in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn in the fifth successive night of disorders in the city.

Police said about 200 store windows were smashed raising the total to nearly 500 in the city.

The trouble broke out in Harlem Saturday night after a white police lieutenant fatally shot a 15-year-old Negro boy last Thursday. The lieutenant said the youth was coming at him with a knife. The disorders have centered for the past two nights in the predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant district of Brooklyn.

European Trip

Wagner who cut short a European trip went on radio and television and said continued disorders could set back Negro and civil rights programs for half a century.

"Law and order are the Negro's best friend—make no mistake about that," he said. "The opposite of law and order is mob rule and that is the way of the Ku Klux Klan and the night riders and the lynch mobs."

Wagner said news of the disorders had damaged the city's tourist trade but that none of 44 million visitors in the past three months including 150,000 Shriners now holding their convention here had been attacked.

The visitors circulate largely in the midtown area visiting such sight-seeing attractions as the United Nations and Rockefeller Center and the World's Fair in Queens—well outside the trouble areas.

500 Reservations

Nevertheless the Hotel Association of New York said that almost 500 reservations had been canceled in the past three days as a result of the violence.

Some 150 Negro leaders in a rare display of unity among their various factions demanded the immediate ouster of Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

They also called for the firing of Walter Arm a deputy police commissioner in charge of community relations and the "inspector who led the riot squad in Harlem."

Wagner in his speech expressed "complete confidence" in the police.

Murphy has said the police will protect peaceful demonstrators but will not be intimidated in suppressing violence.

Thirty-five Negro leaders who attended an evening meeting in Harlem said they had "complete confidence" in the police.

Supreme Court Justice Dies

William Dieterich Suffered Heart Illness, Office Says

MADISON (AP)—Justice William Dieterich of the Wisconsin Supreme Court died early today at St. Joseph's Hospital in Milwaukee. He was 66.

Dieterich, a native of Milwaukee and for 36 years a trial lawyer in Milwaukee and Washington counties, was elected to the Supreme Court in 1958.

The Supreme Court clerk's office said the justice was suffering from a heart condition. He was rushed to the Milwaukee hospital by ambulance early today and died at 4 a.m.

Dieterich was born in Milwaukee on Dec. 18, 1897 and attended Marquette University law school, the University of Justice Dieterich

Wisconsin and the University of Montana.

Dieterich began practicing law in Wisconsin in 1923 and maintained offices in Milwaukee and Hartford.

A World War I veteran, Dieterich served in the 120th field artillery of the 32nd Division. He was active in state veteran's organizations.

He is survived by his widow and a son, William H. Dieterich, III, who was admitted to the state bar this year.

Dieterich was selected to the Supreme Court on his third try. He defeated Justice Emmert L. Wingert of Madison who had been appointed by Gov. Walter Kohler in 1956 to fill a vacancy.

Dieterich ran five times unsuccessfully for attorney general on the Republican ticket.

Military Facilities Bill Sent to President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has sent to President Johnson for his signature a $1-534,994,000 authorization for construction of military facilities in this country and overseas.

The house approved this compromise measure Wednesday and the Senate passed it shortly afterward.

A separate appropriation bill to finance these projects already has been passed by the House. The Senate has not acted upon the money measure.

Urges 4-Power Viet Nam Talks

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle today proposed a four-power parley for the settlement of the Vietnamese conflict and the future status of the whole Indochinese peninsula.

The president said the big nations with a direct responsibility for the fate of Viet Nam should meet to settle the nation's difficulties.

He said these nations were the United States, Red China, the Soviet Union and France.

De Gaulle said they should agree on peace conditions for Viet Nam, then join in a massive reconstruction program for the states of former French Indochina, including Cambodia and Laos.

longer answers to the new world situation," he said.

Europe to Rule Self

"We must, however, maintain the alliance with America because in the North Atlantic both Europe and America are mutually interested as long as the Soviet menace persists, but the reasons for our subordination to America are being eliminated one after another.

"Europe is going to take up its part of the responsibilities (in alliance affairs)."

De Gaulle added that this was in the American interest because the complexity of current

Castro Accused Of Brazil Bribe

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The War Ministry has confirmed documents published by the news magazine O Cruzeiro showing that a brother-in-law of ex-President Joao Goulart received some $5 million from Fidel Castro to finance a revolt in Brazil.

The documents said Leonel Brizola a former member of Congress who fled to Uruguay with Goulart after the rightist military coup last April was promised $10 million in all by the Cuban prime minister.

Ranger 7 Ready For Moon Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—While experts assessed the results of a successful space glider test, another launch team today prepared the Ranger 7 spacecraft for a shot at the moon on Monday.

A delta-winged Project Asset craft survived a fiery 12,000-mile an hour ballistic flight from Cape Kennedy Wednesday in a test of materials for maneuverable manned vehicles of the future.

After the scorching 25-minute dive through the atmosphere, Asset parachuted into the Atlantic Ocean about 1,650 miles southeast of here and was kept afloat by inflatable bags.

Four paratroopers from the Air Rescue Service jumped into the sea and secured the craft for a recovery ship. Then they climbed into air-dropped life rafts and baby-sat with the payload for nearly 16 hours until the range vessel Coastal Sentry reached the scene.

U. S. Court Upholds Rights Law Validity

Atlanta Cafe and Motel Owners Prepare Appeals

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Owners of a restaurant and a motel are preparing to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court the landmark decision by a three-judge federal court upholding constitutionality of the new Civil Rights Act.

"I think justice will prevail and we will be given a favorable verdict by the Supreme Court," said Lester Maddox, proprietor of the Pickrick Restaurant.

Moreton Rolleston Jr., head of the Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp., said he would abide by the order but would appeal immediately.

The men commented Wednesday shortly after the judges issued injunctions against their establishments in the first two court tests of the new law.

Time for Appeals

The effective date of the injunctions was delayed until Aug. 11 to allow time for appeals.

Rolleston filed suit against the government to block enforcement of the law within two hours after it was signed on July 2 by President Johnson.

Maddox was sued by three

Guerrillas Hit Vietnamese in New Ambush

SAIGON (AP)—South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong forces carried out another of their one-day ambushes against government units Wednesday night.

The attack occurred about 25 miles northwest of Saigon near the Ranger camp at Trung Lap.

Under recoilless cannon the guerrillas destroyed an armored personnel carrier and inflicted 20 casualties including 6 killed U.S. spokesmen said.

The government forces also lost a number of weapons.

Trung Lap is a Ranger training camp near the edge of Communist-controlled "D Zone" a few miles from a Viet Cong training camp. The area is largely covered by jungle in which the Viet Cong has built a huge network of tunnels and fortifications.

For the past week the Viet Cong has hit a large government unit somewhere in South Viet Nam every day often resulting in heavy government casualties.

"The whole trouble is that they never seem to learn to put out adequate security or flank guards," a high American official said Wednesday comment.

"We've done everything we can to instill these things into them but unnecessary bloodshed continues."

Fatalities Climb To 16 as Result of Singapore Riots

SINGAPORE (AP)—Chinese and Malays poured into the streets of Singapore for more racial battles today, pushing the official death toll to 16 since communal rioting began Tuesday night.

Conflicting official reports of the total number of injured in the battling ranged from 192 to more than 300.

Police, riot units and troops had hauled in 1,038 persons on curfew violation charges and another 185 were charged with unlawful assembly or rioting.

Not an Explosion but Wife Wrecking Garage

ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Fire trucks were roaring to a house here Wednesday night after an anonymous caller telephoned a report of an explosion.

The caller was in error, as the firemen discovered when they arrived and spoke to the lady of the house, Dorothy Gower.

Cyprus Stage Set For New Violence

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Armed Greek and Turk Cypriots squared off today 100 yards apart near the refugee village of Hamid Mandres in foothills of the Kyrenia Mountains and U.N. peace forces reported a likelihood of new violence.

The report of a new flareup came as Greek Cypriot papers claimed the Cyprus government was importing anti-aircraft guns and its first fighter planes to counter what they said were threats of Turkish air attacks.

Some reports claimed the government also had acquired a number of ground-to-air guided missiles.

Government sources refused to comment on the newspaper reports.

Most Foreign Reaction in Many Years Seen to Presidential Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sharp debate over U.S. foreign policy which is developing in this year's presidential election campaign seems likely to excite more reaction in foreign countries than any American political dispute since the end of World War II.

Much of the European press has already expressed bitter criticism of the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater, assailing him as the leader of those who would change fundamental U.S. positions in world affairs.

Called "Interference" Soviet Premier Khrushchev raised the operation to the summit level this week by denouncing both the Republican nominee and the platform on which he is running.

This kind of action by a foreign official is traditionally classified in diplomacy as interference in the internal affairs of the United States, and the diplomat who tried it would quickly find himself in serious trouble.

In 1900 British Ambassador Lord Sackville-West was sent home for taking sides in the contest between Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison, and his fate is well remembered in the Washington diplomatic corps to this day.

But the rules that silence ambassadors do not operate for presidents and premiers, speaking from distant capitals. The betting in diplomatic quarters here is that considerably more will be heard from Khrushchev before next election day.

His outburst in Warsaw last Tuesday is probably only a beginning.

Khrushchev told a Polish audience that the candidate put forward by the Republican party "made it clear that he wants to enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled anti-communism and war threats."

He also asserted that the Republican platform, which he denounced as warlike, had been adopted "in an atmosphere reminiscent of the fascist gatherings in Nuremberg."

The big question raised among U.S. foreign policy officials who are always concerned with the aim of Khrushchev's maneuvers, is what he hopes to accomplish by an attack at this time.

Purpose Not Clear

Is he seeking to magnify the concern expressed in the European press that Goldwater, if he became president, would radically alter U.S. policies toward the Communist countries, toughening American attitudes, and would possibly make some

Most Familiar GOP Figures Washed Out

Republicans May Have to Search
For Replacements

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—If Sen. Barry Goldwater loses the 1964 election the Republican party will have to search for a whole new batch of likely presidential prospects.

With the possible exception of Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, the familiar figures of this year, and past years, seem washed out. Nixon, Rockefeller, Lodge.

Scranton at the end was Goldwater's only active rival for the Republican presidential nomination. He didn't make a glittering race of it.

Even allowing for his late start, much of his effort seemed wishy-washy and his campaign badly organized. But he is only 47. The presidential bug could bite him again although it took some biting this time to get him started.

Remote Chance
Besides Goldwater and Scranton only Nixon, Rockefeller and Lodge seemed to have even a remote chance for the nomination. All were figures from the past.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is only 51, which would seem to give him time for another try or two, except for what happened to him.

Although he lost the presidency to Sen. John F. Kennedy in 1960, it was so close he might have been in a favorite spot for the No. 1 role again if he hadn't failed in a try for the governorship of California in 1962. His balloon went down.

A close loss of the presidency is one thing. But to lose the gubernatorial contest could be and in his case seemed to be, a fatal blow.

Year's Events
He hovered around the fringes of this year's events, saying he would accept the nomination if it was offered. He never declared himself a man in search of it but he had so much to say he acted like a man who was.

He never got a nod. At best his only chance appeared to be as a final choice to break a convention deadlock. There was no deadlock and he was never more than just a man in the background through all of 1964.

That doesn't speak well for his chances in the future. He probably didn't endear himself to Scranton or Goldwater. He called the former a puppet and tried to stir up opposition to Goldwater. The senator said he sounded "more and more like Harold Stassen."

1968 Election
New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, 56, will be 60 when the 1968 election comes. But after what happened to him this year 1968 will probably be just a date on the calendar.

He was the one sturdy Republican who fought Goldwater through the primaries, campaigning hard. He beat the senator in Oregon, lost to him in California, and then dropped out when Goldwater's strength seemed too much.

Heavy Handicap
This was his second frustration and second withdrawal. He made sounds like a candidate in 1960 but Nixon had such an inside track for the nomination that Rockefeller pulled out with out even trying.

This year his divorce and remarriage were a heavy handicap to him. But he never showed enough strength or appeal to warrant still another try four years from now.

Yet, he was one of the most memorable figures at the convention when he urged his fellow Republicans to write into their platform a condemnation of the right wing John Birch Society. He was booed but grinned and in the end was ignored by the Goldwater power house.

If nothing else age alone would knock Henry Cabot Lodge out of the picture next time. He is 62 now, will be 66 then. He was very unimpressive this year, except for a short time after he won the New Hampshire primary over Goldwater and Rockefeller.

Lodge won there without declaring himself a candidate and while he was still U.S. ambassador in far-off South Viet Nam. When Rockefeller beat him in the Oregon primary that finished him.

Oregon Primary
He quit as ambassador to come home, he said, to help Scranton beat Goldwater. But he wasn't very dynamic after he got here. If he thought the lightning might strike him, he was probably the only one who did.

Yet, at the moment, there is no one in sight who could reasonably be said to be the man to replace these familiar figures from the past.

Wallace and Goldwater

The decision of Alabama Governor Wallace to abandon an independent presidential effort is favorable to Barry Goldwater not because Wallace will now be of great help to the Republican candidate but because he might have done him considerable harm if he had run on a state's rights platform.

A Wallace candidacy would have muddled the clear-cut issue which Goldwater apparently intends to present to the voters in the forthcoming campaign. And from the point of view that it will be advantageous to have the issue of conservative versus liberal presented to the voters it is well that Wallace decided to stay out.

Here in the state of Wisconsin for instance a Wallace candidacy would have injected a confusing note into the picture. Wallace was invited to participate in the Wisconsin presidential primary by right-wing elements who are presumably satisfied now with the Republican Party with Goldwater as its candidate. They would have had a difficult decision about where their allegiance lay had Wallace entered the presidential race in the state.

A Wallace candidacy would have been a considerable obstacle to Goldwater's carrying several southern states in the November battle with President Johnson. And the Goldwater strategy is being constructed around the hope that he can attract considerable support in the South as well as in the Western section of the country.

A most interesting development to watch as the campaign progresses is how Goldwater will handle the near-fanatical segments of the electorate who have jumped on his bandwagon. His vice-presidential candidate, Rep. Miller, has indicated that he would like to see some overtures to the party's moderates and liberals in the Northern industrial states which would bring them around to active support of the ticket. Miller said he favors a summit meeting of Republican leaders of all shades of opinion to canvass prospects for the campaign and to advise on strategy. Goldwater himself said in June before the convention that he intended to call such a session but he hasn't mentioned it since his nomination.

Miller was asked whether he and Goldwater would welcome Wallace's support. He replied, "I don't think so, he's a Democrat."

The chances are that Wallace will not plunk for either candidate, and this is probably all right with both of them. But a high-ranking Wallace aide has said he will organize a "Democrats for Goldwater" campaign in the south.

Goldwater's chief problem in the campaign will be to fashion an image that will satisfy all the diverse elements of his present support and still attract votes from not only moderate and liberal Republicans but independents too. If he can do this successfully it will be a magical political performance.

Bundle From Heaven

Something to Crow About

When Dr. Erich Baeumer was a small boy on a farm in Germany some fifty years ago, he played in the family hen house because his mother thought it was safer than roaming the fields or roads. Young Baeumer discovered that he could communicate with the chickens although he says that when his voice changed with adolescence he lost the ability to make such contacts. But he continued the study of a "chicken language" as a hobby through the use of tapes and other technical equipment. The results are published in a small book.

Chickens do indeed have a form of language, writes Baeumer. They have at least thirty distinct words which depend both upon vowel sounds and tones. But the doctor also points out that the ability is not acquired; it comes by instinct and chickens the world around speak the same language whether they are in a hen house in the Ozarks or Japan. In fact, Baeumer writes that they begin to make and understand certain sounds even before they leave the egg.

When the about-to-be-born chick starts to peck at the egg shell to get out, it also emits small high pitched sounds. The mother hen replies in three ways: there is a "gluck-gluck" to establish contact, a "tucket-tuck" to encourage the chick to keep working at the shell, and a soothing "orrr-orrr" to calm down a nervous offspring. However, chicks who hatch in an incubator without benefit of maternal advice do not seem to suffer any ill effects.

Baeumer reports that chickens show whether they are hungry, tired, annoyed or angry by their various sounds. And those raised in isolation without contact with other chickens (or conversation with small boys) develop the same language ability.

Experiments have shown that cows wooed with music often give more and better milk. Perhaps there is a new job opportunity for young children in speaking to chickens and encouraging them to lay more eggs.

The Right to Vote in the U.N.

Next November when the General Assembly of the United Nations convenes, it must determine whether several nations who are more than two years in arrears in assessments may retain their vote. The U.N. Charter states that such nations "shall have no vote." However, Article 19 would provide that the Assembly may waive enforcement "if it is satisfied that the failure to pay is due to conditions beyond the control of the member."

A group of Latin American nations want to divide those who have fallen behind into two groups; those who are unable to pay and who in effect would take a sort of pauper's oath, and those who simply refuse to pay.

The Soviet Union is the major culprit in the latter category. By next fall it will owe almost $37 million for the Congo force, $15½ million for the Middle East force and $2 million for other U.N. activities that Russia claims are illegal. The International Court of Justice has ruled that such special assessments are obligatory and Russia would have to put up about $8½ million in order to maintain its voting privileges in the General Assembly.

France is also in arrears about $16 million for the Congo operation which it considered illegal or at least contrary to French interests. However, now that the U.N. has withdrawn the Congo force, it expects that France will pay up enough to qualify as a voting member.

There is a big difference between the underdeveloped countries which have trouble making their assessments and those which simply refuse to pay because U.N. operations conflict with their national interests. A lot more members pay only enough to avoid the two year debit but they still owe the U.N. a lot of money.

But it is also obvious that many of the poor nations are in desperate financial straits because of unrealistic and impractical economic policies. Many refuse to tax their wealthy or at least never collect the taxes. They have government - sponsored give-away programs aimed at garnering popularity and votes for the regime rather than encouraging long range economic health. They use available foreign aid for pie-in-the-sky programs unless curbed by the donor. While poverty in many Latin American, African and Asian countries is very real and very serious, the governments are often more interested in images of power and prestige than stable economic policies. To some extent then, their inability to pay their U.N. assessments is their own fault. Excusing them results in the more stable nations footing the bill for the irresponsibility and financial immaturity of the others.

If the General Assembly is to determine who is poor enough to escape losing its vote through debt, it should also determine whether the poverty is real or the result of such policies. But this would not be easy for an organization with so many new nations who are so ill-acquainted with the realities of economic health.

Taxpayer Objects to Request For Closing of Durkee Street

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Why should Durkee Street be closed from Wisconsin Avenue to Summer Street? Just so the school can be connected to its gym and youth center? Is it such an effort for youngsters to walk across a street to enter a building? When Durkee Street is vacated then what? Will Summer Street be barricaded during school hours so the children have a place to play? Who will be next to have a street vacated so they can build out in the road, even though they have property to build on?

The excuse is that a thousand cars do not use Durkee

Street in a day's time. Are there a thousand cars that travel Morrison Street, Pershing Street, Bell Avenue or a number of other streets in Appleton?

In a radius of about three blocks of the proposed vacating there are 17 taxpayers and 12 signed against the closing. They still must go to a public hearing to argue about it, even though they paid taxes for years.

This is the only street going north that leads directly into Erb Park. There are a lot of children who use this street when they go swimming or to a hobby shop on the avenue.

There are also quite a few going to Roosevelt Junior High who use the street. There are quite a few elderly people and some not so elderly who do not drive and use the street for quite a few things. There is grocery shopping, bakery, druggist, dentist and eye doctor. Also a chance to catch the bus at Wisconsin Avenue and Durkee Street to go to town to pay bills. They can all go out of their way for that because the young generation can't exert themselves to walk across a street to open a door to enter a gymnasium. Does it make sense to you?

your precipitant editorialist that direct mail advertising plays a tremendous role in supporting and stabilizing the economy of the Fox River Valley.

Appleton Coated Paper Co., Bergstrom Paper Co., Consolidated Papers Inc., Fox River Paper Corp., Gilbert Paper Co., Kimberly - Clark Corp., Riverside Paper Corp., and George A. Whiting Paper Co. compete mightily, daily for a share of the nation's great direct mail printing paper market.

Wouldn't be a bit surprised, too, if our paper packaging specialists such as Marathon and Thilmany assist packaging of those merchandise samples that come through the mail.

All of these companies—and neighboring producers of other-than-paper commodities, insurance companies and associations—employ direct mail advertising to assist selling of their products, bringing money from out of state which we spend here for products advertised by merchants in the

Advertising of any sort must pay its way; and proof of the success of direct mail as another powerful medium of communications is the nationwide acceptance and growth of that industry just this past decade. A collateral benefit shared by us all is the forced modernization, though late, of the Post Office Department as it adjusts to the distribution requirements of the mail marketing technique.

Of course direct mail, as a newspaper or magazine or television network, can have an occasional bad day. When such a day does dawn, into the wastebasket goes the offensive mail piece. Not much different, we think, than clicking the switch on the boob tube or wrapping the garbage in syndicated, daily devotions to teenage sex. (And hey, sport, do you suppose the post office would let those newspaper movie ads go through the mails? Of course not. Some kid might see them.)

Facilities for Higher Education in State Must Be Doubled in 10 Years

BY ROBERT TAYLOR

MADISON—A spirit of restlessness, an air of excitement, pervade higher education in Wisconsin today as it moves into a new era.

Twenty years ago about half of the youngsters in Wisconsin graduated from high school.

Today half of the Wisconsin high school graduates go on to higher education, technical or collegiate.

Ten years ago at the University of Wisconsin, research expenditures were only about half those for instruction. Today, with the state and federal governments, as well as private industry, recognizing how scientific investigation contributes to the economy, to health, and to national security, research and instruction budgets at the university are about equal, with major sums of money coming into the state from outside sources to support research.

Growth of enrollments and research in its institutions of higher education are such that the state of Wisconsin now has the task of doing in 10 years what it did in the past 100 years. It must double its present system.

To the Wisconsin citizens who have been on the university and the state college Boards of Regents and on the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, these facts have long been known. And while in the past they have had some difficulty in arousing the interest of their fellow citizens in the task, they now find themselves the center of state attention, as fathers and mothers of youngsters on their way toward college, and taxpayers becoming aware of the cost of it all, seek assurances that the doors of higher education will remain open to all qualified.

PUBLIC CONCERN

This new public concern for higher education undoubtedly is one of the reasons Wisconsin people are looking more closely at the organization of public higher education, why some are suggesting that changes might be in order.

But whether the structure is changed, or the present system remains, those responsible for guiding the development of Wisconsin higher education into the new era will have a wealth of solid background on which to base their work.

Four years ago, the Coordinating Committee was able to publish the principles of the master plan; since then the implementation has been outlined, step by step.

Most recently, for example, these things were decided:

That four-year universities be established in the Fox Valley area by 1969 and in the Racine-Kenosha area in the 1971 biennium.

That new two-year University of Wisconsin Centers in Rock and Waukesha counties, and a two-year State University Branch in Rice Lake be opened in the 1965-67 biennium.

That liberal arts programs be maintained and strengthened at institutions where they now are offered and extended throughout the state as equally as possible.

That no arbitrary limitations on growth be placed on the state institutions of higher education, but that provisions for orderly growth—including deceleration of the rate in some locations — be instituted and maintained.

That the Wisconsin State Universities work on property acquisition where needed for expansion, and that program and dormitory expansion at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee be encouraged.

That fees at University Centers and projected State University Branches be established that would encourage greater attendance at those institutions.

That state aids for construction, equipment purchase, and state-oriented programs of the Vocational and Adult Schools be increased to encourage rapid development of expanded and improved programs.

That further study be given to the possibility of a junior college system for the state.

1965 DECISION

To make a good start on the brick and mortar aspects of some of those steps, the Coordinating Committee adopted a $109 million building program for the 1965-67 biennium.

University and State College Regents now are developing the operating budget requests for those years. When these are coordinated and adopted, the question of whether the state of Wisconsin can afford to continue its hundred-year tradition of high quality educational opportunity for all its qualified sons and daughters will be up to elected state officials.

The future of higher education in the state, and in some respects the future of the state itself, will be decided by the governor and the legislature in 1965.

Robert Taylor, once a fellow journeyman in journalism's vineyard, serves as guest columnist for the absent John Wyngaard. He is assistant to the president of the University of Wisconsin.

Strictly Personal

Here's How Exception Does Prove the Rule

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

If the class will come to attention, we'll do a little word-work today, based on a letter I have received, which is one of quite a few asking the same question.

A reader writes: "As a teacher, the cliché 'The exception proves the rule' has always plagued me. Has this been taken out of context or is it really true? A rule is a rule — how then can an exception prove it? If you can answer this perplexing question, it will solve a tremendous problem for me, as my students continually ask me why I use the phrase when I cannot give the answer."

The saying comes from an old Roman phrase: "Exception probat regulam." The verb "probare" means to make a trial of, to test. In the early days of English, the word "prove" meant "test," as when St. Paul advised the Thessalonians to "prove all things and hold fast to that which is good." He meant, of course, to test all things.

The old meaning of "proof" has come down to us in the printer's "proof-sheet"—which is not a demonstration of a page's correctness, but a trial of it. We test the proof-sheet against the original copy.

The phrase, "The exception proves the rule," then, means that the exception tests the rule. And how does it test it? It does not mean that any exception proves the correctness of any rule in general; it does mean, however, that if we recognize one thing as an exception, then we implicitly recognize some rule to which it is an exception.

For instance, Sam Johnson thought that the evidence for the migration of woodcocks in summer was as good as could be desired. A friend observed that, however, some woodcocks had been found in Essex in summer, to which Johnson replied, "Sir, that strengthens our argument. Exception probat regulam. Some being found shows that, if all remained, many would be found."

Actually, the exception illustrates the rule, but it does not demonstrate it. It can strengthen a rule, but never prove it; nor was it ever offered as proof. What happened was simply that the word "prove" changed its meaning over the centuries and so turned the old saying into a nearly senseless one.

Speaking of St. Paul, something even worse has happened to his advice about "faith, hope and charity." In King James' day, "charity" came from the Latin "caritas," and meant loving-kindness. Today it means something much narrower, and the whole force of the phrase has lost its traditional meaning.

The citizens cannot bestow too many acts of kindness upon them. Better soldiers than L. White, George White, Patton, Dillon, Elliott, Sanburn and Hawley Van de Bogart, Appleton has not produced. That you will readily acknowledge, is saying a vast deal in their praise. God bless each patriot heart and may their civil career reflect as much credit upon them as their military.

Crack, whiz and boom, is the order of the day and night here in front of the 9th and 18th Corps. At times the musket firing breaks out so fiercely one thinks if the devil isn't to pay, he soon will be.

With the 2nd, 5th and 6th Corps we have only a little splatter of shelling and mortar practice — none of the murderous picket firing what-ever.

You ask why the difference among corps?

As you are aware, Burnside and Martindale have each a number of colored regiments. The Johnnies don't fancy having their former property armed and fighting them, and whenever a woolly pate makes itself visible, the unerring aim of half a dozen rebel sharpshooters tell heavily on the poor darkey.

Shepherds on Cyprus Watch Flocks in Fear

21 Have Been Killed While Others Kidnaped

By DAVID YANCASHIRE

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The scene seemed straight from the Bible—a grizzled old man with a leather pouch on his back, grazing his sheep on a hillside in the sun.

They found his body next day, crumpled in the bottom of a well with two bullet holes in his forehead.

Shepherds in Cyprus watch their flocks in fear, and the once peaceful profession has become one of the most dangerous jobs on the troubled island.

Twenty-one shepherds have been wounded or killed since near-civil war erupted between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. Dozens more have been fired at. At least 10 have vanished or been kidnaped.

Pasture Grazing
To find grazing for the sheep and goats, we have to go a long way from the villages and there is no one out there to protect us," explained Hassan Hussein, a 30-year-old shepherd from the Turkish village of Hamit Mandres. "I never know when I go out in the morning if I will ever get home again."

Forty-five days ago I was with my sheep over there," he said, pointing beyond the barren, dust-colored hills where nothing grows. "I heard shouts and stood up and there were four Greeks running toward me. They fired their guns and I ran—I ran so fast I left my boots behind. I hid in a dry riverbed."

Every year when the sun seared fields dry up, the island's shepherds take their flocks to the rich green foothills of the mountains. This year the move means crossing enemy territory, for Greeks and Turks alike, and many shepherds fear their animals will die on the sparse lowland grazing.

77 Years Old
"I am 77 years old and I have been a shepherd all my life, and this is the first year I can remember when I couldn't take the sheep to the hills," said Panayis Yanni, a hulking Greek villager from Mia Milea.

"I am not afraid, but my wife and she doesn't want me to go to the fields at all." He was hauling a dripping leather bucket from a well and watering his 60 sheep.

"I have had no trouble so far," he added. He waved his arm at a shepherd across the valley and said, "Talk to Petros over there. He has seen fear."

Kyriacos Petros is a 64-year-old Greek Cypriot in baggy black trousers and high homemade boots with 72 sheep, a donkey and two dogs.

Two Turks
They shot at me four times last winter. Two Turks came over the ridge with guns and fired, but they missed me. I sheep. Even the men are ducked into the riverbed, and afraid," she said.

When they were gone, I gathered the flock and came back to the village," he said.

I was afraid, but I am not afraid now. I know the Turkish shepherds over there and we send guards with us. Then it still talk to each other. They would be safer."

Concern Expressed Over Arms Buildup By Cypriot Forces

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—President Makarios of Cyprus says he shares U.N. concern over the weapons buildup on the war-torn island, but blames Turkey for the import of weapons by his Greek Cypriots.

The archbishop indicated the Greek Cypriot arms buildup will continue.

Makarios said in a cable Monday to U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant that the Greek action was "rendered inevitable" by invasion threats from Turkey and by continued smuggling of Turkish arms and military personnel onto the island. He said the weapons are needed "to protect the country from threatened external invasion as well as from actual internal subversion."

Thant had appealed to the governments of Cyprus, Turkey and Greece to land no more arms on the east Mediterranean island.

Scranton Relaxing In Adirondacks

OLD FORGE, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania turned to the wilderness trails of this Adirondack resort today to relax from his vigorous but unsuccessful campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Scranton, his wife and their four children arrived at Old Forge Monday. They were in seclusion behind the gates of the exclusive Adirondack League Club's 9,000-acre preserve before newsmen found out their plane had landed at Old Forge airport.

call me and say 'Come over' and I ask them 'You won't shoot me?' We get along together, and the Turks with guns must have been strangers."

"My wife nags at me not to go out any more, but I must feed the sheep. I have six sons and two daughters, and I put them all through school with sheep."

Shakespeare has his King Henry VI wandering over the battlefield musing about shepherds and saying "Methinks it were a happy life," but for a Turkish woman named Fatma Ali, it is a life of dread.

"I haven't seen my husband for more than 40 days now," she said. "He was beyond those hills with the sheep, and the dogs came running home alone one day. I knew something was wrong so I came here and the other shepherds told me 'We think Ali Ahmed has been kidnaped.'"

Leaned on Stick
She leaned on her stick and pointed to the place. Her handsome but worn face was wrapped in a faded pink scarf, and her feet shuffled in the dust.

"They saw a land rover driver in a pair of ragged tennis shoes. They saw a land rover driver in a pair of ragged tennis shoes. They saw a land rover driver in a pair of ragged tennis shoes. They saw a land rover driver in a pair of ragged tennis shoes."

"Now I tend the sheep myself, but I don't know how to do it—I have never left the house before—and some of the young ones have died already because they didn't have enough food."

"I am afraid out here with the fired, but they missed me. I sheep. Even the men are ducked into the riverbed, and afraid," she said.

"I have two daughters but they are only 18 and 20 years old, and I cannot send them out here alone with the flock."

The United Nations should send guards with us. Then it would be safer."

Saying 'No' to Russia

Nationalism Sweeping Central European Country of Romania

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)—When Communist Romania says "no" to the Soviet Union, it here believes that Gheorghiu-Dej's entire policy of defying the Russians and appealing to nationalism has met with large-scale enthusiasm among Romania's 18 million people. The Communist party, they believe, has become stronger than Khrushchev's economic plans ever.

Romanians, a volatile Latin nation, are angered at the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and the "sea of Slavs" that surround their country. They believe the Slavs are trying to keep them a nation of peasants, just at a time when they are beginning to make industrial progress.

You can see the contrasts of an agricultural society moving into the industrial age as you walk through the narrow streets of the old quarter of Bucharest. Black mustached peasants in white tunics and fur hats peer curiously into show windows of a Communist party control here is tighter than in Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

There's absolutely nothing to indicate Romania is moving closer to Western political ideas. Communist chief Gheorghiu-Dej is drumming up and plastic swim rafts. Peasant women with baskets on their heads gaze unequally at young girls in Communist internationalism slacks unloading trucks full of plastic gasoline cans.

In the countryside shepherds, win popular support for the Communist party. Wandering Sypsies Gypsies in broken-down covered carts wander over modern highway bridges built to carry Western tourists to the Black Sea coast and hard currency to the state bank for use in Romania's growing trade deals with the West.

Nowhere in East Europe are so many factories going up, so many apartment houses furnished, painted brightly with gardens well kept.

Ploesti, the great Romanian oil center 45 per cent destroyed by American, British and German air raids in 1944, is now completely rebuilt. On its outskirts, there are 4,000 new apartments and 2,000 new small houses.

For each of the last four years, Romania's industry has grown by 15 per cent—a record unequalled in the Communist bloc.

If it keeps up, some economic experts predict Romania could possibly become the most powerful industrial nation of East Europe within a few years, outstripping Czechoslovakia, Poland and East Germany.

It is possibly this that made the Soviet Union last year suggest that Romania limit its industrial development and concentrate on raising food for the East bloc.

"We saw no reason why we should repeat once again to an agricultural nation," a Romanian official explained.

Gheorghiu-Dej is going ahead with a good deal of Romania's vast supplies of oil, bauxite, timber and agricultural products in the West. He is buying complete industrial plants and Western know-how in exchange.

As a result, Soviet influences are on their way out and Western influences are coming in. Russian has been cut out as a compulsory language in Romanian schools. Names of towns and places bearing Soviet titles have been changed. Soviet literary and cultural institutes have been closed or their activities reduced.

Bucharest is crowded with Western businessmen and their cars are mobbed by Romanians crawling under them and testing their springs.

The Voice of America and other Western broadcasts are no longer jammed and people crowd the movie houses to see recent French, Italian, British and American films.

Red Propaganda
Despite this, no country in Eastern Europe is as completely subjected to a daily stream of Communist propaganda and agitation as is Romania.

It is through this organized unique form of communist nationalism that Gheorghiu-Dej is winning support and getting Romanians to work harder.

"But the fact is," said a Romanian official, "our nation and our people must continue to keep their belts tightly notched if we are to go ahead."

The Hungarians say they want goulash now. We want plants and industry, so we can have more later when our neighbors are finding the going harder."
